Knickerbocker Tells Of Refugees' Flight From Stricken France

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOMEWHERE ON THE ENGLISH SOUTH COAST, June 21.—The savagery of war has finally touched Great Britain as for the first time in her modern history ousands of her citizens took flight from Chancellor Hitler's war machine on the European continent.

With 1,500 other survivors of Hitler's assault upon France we reached England today on a ship whose maximum passenger capacity supposedly was 180.

Between Monday, when we boarded the ship at Bordeaux, and today our company endured several bombing attacks by German planes and escaped through a freshly laid field of magnetic mines.

Accompanying us, another ship carried several hundred more refugees, including the entire staff of the British embasy in France.

Æscorted By Naval Ships

We both were escorted by several vessels of the British navy. Our four-day odessey of misery in a trifling incident—but it is a good illustration of what is happening to tens of millions throughout Europe.

Ninety per cent of us had homes in Paris. All of us left in German hands everything we owned in the world.

Among us are several persons well known in America such as Eve Curie, daughter of the discoverer of radium, Henry Bernstein, famous Summer?

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, June 21.—On the first day of summer, Pennsylvanians shivered in temperatures that were the lowest in the history of the Harrisburg Weather Bureau.

Freak snow flurries were reported in widely scattered sections and chill breezes greeted early risers.

At Corry, in northwestern Pennsylvania, potato fields were blanketed with snow. The temperature dropped to 24 degrees at Mt. Jewett, McKean County, where snow fell yesterday.

Light snowfall was reported in the Buckhorn Mountain area near Altoona.

Named To Cabinet Posts

FRANK KNOX HENRY L. STIMSON

In a move in step with his plan to form a non-partisan "defense" cabinet, President Roosevelt names Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, Republican vice presidential candidate in 1936, to the post of Secretary of the navy and Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state in Herbert Hoover's cabinet, as new secretary of war. Stimson succeeds Harry Woodring. Knox succeeds Charles Edison.

Roosevelt Defends His Selections Of Stimson And Knox

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 21.—President Roosevelt today charged that those who criticize his appointment of Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox to the war and navy posts in the cabinet are inspired by purely partisan motives at a time the nation is facing a most difficult situation.

At the same time, in a press conference shortly after his arrival at his Hyde Park home, the president issued a statement outlining the purposes of his proposed Pan-American trade cartel, which would be aimed at offsetting Nazi and Fascist commercial influence in Central and South America.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that this proposed pool of export surpluses "is not intended to replace the program of reciprocal trade agreement which ha been steadfastly pursued by the government of the United States."

Questioning at the press conference turned to the inferences of various Republican leaders that his appointment of two Republicans to

The Fuehrer's greatest masterpiece of symbolism was enacted at 3:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. E. D. NEW YORK, June 21.—Fearful that further violence was planned, federal, state, county and city agencies joined today in a gigantic manhunt for the perpetrators of yesterday's bombings at buildings housing the Nazi consulate and the Communist Daily Worker newspaper in which nine persons were injured.

The smoke of the explosions had hardly cleared away before G-men were on the scene. District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey took personal command of the investigation launched by his office. A host of other agencies joined in the hunt for a single band of terrorists believed responsible.

Dewey said he was convinced the bombings were "no mere scare" but

Tense Speculation On Third Term Plans

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—President Roosevelt's third term plans became the subject of tense speculation among GOP leaders today following appointment of two Republicans—Colonel Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson—to his cabinet.

Associates of Alf M. Landon, the party's 1936 nominee, contended flatly that the president had eliminated himself from the 1940 campaign and would not seek another term. They declared that the entry into the cabinet of Knox, Landon's running mate four years ago, was based upon the president's disclaiming any intention of running again.

On the other side, however, many contended that Mr. Roosevelt further committed himself to the third term by the appointments, asserting he was seeking Republican support for the campaign.

(Editor's Note: Presidential associates laughed at the suggestion that Mr. Roosevelt had inferentially abandoned a possible third term candidacy through the Stimson and

Republicans In Senate Against Long Recesses

Will Fight Proposals For Recess Periods Longer Than Three Days

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 21. — The senate Republican leadership served public notice on the Democrats today that the G.O.P. would fight any efforts at this time to recess congress for longer than three-day periods.

The minority leader, Sen. McNary (D) Ore., announced his party's decision after senate Democratic Leader Barkley expressed a hope for a one-week recess over the Republican National convention opening in Philadelphia Monday.

When McNary disclosed his stand, and said he spoke "for the Republican membership, Barkley declared he would await house action before making any moves in the senate.

Any recess for the convention appeared to depend however upon the ability of congress, by virtually day and night effort, to complete a far-reaching national defense program, enact a tax bill and complete appropriation bills totalling almost $14,000,000,000.

Senate-house leaders met today in an effort to reach an agreement on the $1,007,000,000 defense tax bill. Two major obstacles to agreement loomed. They are the Lafollette drastic excess profits and the Conally war profits amendments.

Four major appropriation bills, including a $1,158,000,000 relief bill, remained for disposition. The senate received today a house resolution extending the sugar control act. It is expected to pass, but may be vetoed because of restrictions imposed upon importation of refined sugar from Puerto and Hawaii.

Committee To Hear Stimson

Senate Military Affairs Committee To Hold Meetings On Cabinet Appointment

CONSIDER KNOX AT MEETING SATURDAY

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Senate military committee today agreed unanimously to hold meetings on President Rosevelt's nomination of Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war—thereby delaying congressional action until after July 1.

Stimson will be called before the committee for questioning "at his convenience" following conclusion of the Republican national convention in Philadelphia next week.

The nomination of Col. Frank Knox, 1936 G. O. P. vice-presidential candidate, to be secretary of the navy is scheduled to be considered by the Senate naval affairs committee tomorrow.

Decision Made

The decision on Stimson was made at a closed meeting of the committee during which the nomination was discussed for nearly two hours. Afterwards Chairman Sheppard (D.), Tex., announced that "several members" asked for the hearings, and that everybody present agreed this was "the wise course."

Sheppard said that all committee members felt it would be impossible to hold the hearings during the G. O. P. convention, next week, and that this was the only reason for delay.

Several Republican members, it was explained, will leave Washington this afternoon to attend funeral services for the late Sen. Gibson (R.), Vt., in Brattleboro and consequently it was not felt advisable to try to call Stimson here for a hearing tomorrow.

G. O. P. Leaders Assert Cabinet Appointments Create Major 'War' Issue

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Republican convention leaders today asserted that President Roosevelt's creation of a coalition cabinet had given the G. O. P. a new major "war issue" for the 1940 campaign even before there is any agreement on the presidential nominee.

The president's appointment of the two Republican "interventionists"—Henry L. Stimson and Col. Frank Knox—was hailed by the Republicans as branding the Democratic party as the "war party". It also was being credited with pushing the Republican party away from an "aid the allies" platform toward a mild isolationist stand on international affairs.

"Expel" Stimson-Knox

The immediate reaction by the G. O. P. was to "expel" Stimson and Knox from the party. This was done when the Republican national committee unanimously approved a statement by G. O. P. Chairman John Hamilton declaring Stimson and Knox can no longer speak for the Republican party. Knox meanwhile resigned as an Illinois delegate to the convention.

G. O. P. spokesmen generally were uncertain as to whether the president's act had aided or injured the campaign of any particular candidate for the Republican nomination. Some leaders thought it strengthened the candidacies of Ohio Senator Robert A. Taft and New York Racket-Buster Thomas E. Dewey because of their public opposition to American intervention in Europe's quarrels.

President Warns Americas Must Unite For Trade

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 21.—Striking fast in his own preparedness blitzkrieg, President Roosevelt today drafted a public warning that the 21 governments of the two Americas must immediately band together in a gigantic trade combine if they are to work out their economic salvation should Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy win the European war.

Further, there was authoritative reason to believe President Roosevelt was preparing a broadside to be fired at Republican and isolation-Democrat critics who charge him with attempting to set up "a war cabinet and a war party."

The president arrived at Hyde Park this morning for a week-end at his Dutchess county home.

Appointments Create Stir

G.O.P. Convention To Open Monday

Plan Ceremony At Liberty Bell

Demonstration Being Arranged To Boost Candidacy Of Governor James

STATE WILL PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 21.—A "streamlined" convention, the American version of the German "blitz," is today the program for the Republican National convention which opens Monday at Philadelphia.

"A streamlined convention with the emphasis placed upon the adoption of a business-like procedure that will furnish an example of the sort of well-ordered, carefully planned business administration that the Republican party may be expected to give the country" is the way it is described.

Pennsylvanians will play an important part in this year quadrennia gathering, with a large delegation upon whose votes every candidate will keep a sharp eye, a presidential candidate, and an influential member on the resolutions committee, former U. S. Sen. George Wharton Pepper.

Pepper will also share the honors with Republican National Chairman John Hamilton at the re-dedication of the Republican party in Independence Hall on the opening day of the convention.

At Independence Hall

Monday, at 5 p. m., all delegates and officers of the convention will gather in Independence Square before Independence Hall. The doors of the hall will be thrown open, exposing the liberty bell to view. During the ceremonies the liberty bell will be rung, its peal transmitted throughout the world by radio.

Addresses at the Independence Hall gathering will be made by Hamilton and Pepper. Richard Crooks of the Metropolitan Opera company will sing a new song entitled "Cradle of Liberty."

The evening preceding the convention's opening, the committee of 500 which has been formed to promote the candidate of Governor James, will put on a mass demonstration in behalf of their candidate. A "big show" was promised. Members of the special committee, termed "Rowland's Rangers," after Secretary of Property and Supplies Roger W. Rowland, its chairman, have been buttonholing individual delegates the past few days urging them to vote for James.

Further support was given James in his native state when the Republican men of Pennsylvania announced its support of the governor.

In a statement issued at Harrisburg by Josiah W. Kline, its president, James was termed "the man who was best fitted to act as the standard bearer for the Republican party this fall." Kline said his organization represented every county in the state.

Mrs. Nicholas Bongard, the former Molly King, of Grosse Point, Mich., came back with tears in her eyes. A bride of a few weeks, her husband, an officer in the French army, was called into service and she has been out of touch with him since they parted.

Mrs. Mark L. Severe, whose husband is United States Vice-Consul at Paris, returned on the Washington en route to Sioux City, Iowa after 18 years abroad. Her two small children, Nancy and John were with her.

Kenneth Banifield of Baton Rouge, La., was studying international law in France when the war moved in his direction. He signed up with the American volunteer ambulance corps and comes home today on a brief leave of absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Turner, formerly of Denver, were headed for Colorado city. Turner, a fur buyer, boarded the Washington at Galway, Ireland. They had been living at Brighton for two years after fleeing Palestine to escape continuing riots there.

"Everywhere we go we get a lullaby of machine guns," Mrs. Turner reported.

Dr. Edward J. Ortin of Los Angeles, who helped rebuild features of wounded soldiers in the World war and is similarly engaged at the American hospital in Paris in the current war, returned with Mrs. Ortin and seven-year-old Joclyn for a short vacation.

Copenhagen Minister Arrives

The Washington also brought in Ray Atherton, American minister at Copenhagen, who said he was returning "for consultation on orders of the secretary of state."

Atherton had little to say of the war but a lot to say of the extraordinary good luck which enabled him to make train connections through Copenhagen - Berlin - Munich-Geneva-Bordeaux in time to catch the Washington.

"We didn't have a moment to spare and we made every connection on time," he said. "I thought it was remarkable in countries at war."

Mrs. Atherton was traveling with him.

Another of Uncle Sam's diplomatic family was Page Huidekoper of the secretarial staff of Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. ambassador to London, returning to Washington.

From the British social register came the Honorable Mrs. John Monson, formerly of Washington and the daughter of Alexander Powell, a writer. Mrs. Monson's husband, a London barrister, was called to service with the army. She has lived in London for nine years. Small sons John and Jeremy and brown-haired Sandra were with their mother.

Don't Know What To Do

Raymond Roussel, in the sanitary service of the French government, arrived to buy supplies but uncertain as to what his next move is in view of France's present position.

Miss Margaret Harrison of Detroit, admitting that she was a little excited when the Washington was stopped by a German submarine, said "at least I didn't drop my purse overboard or anything like that."

Miss Harrison has been abroad for 14 years.

All the passengers reported having taken the submarine incident calmly.

T. D. Stokes of Harrisburg, European sales manager for an electric machinery company, said it was far more nerve-wracking in Marseilles, which was bombed four times while he was there with his Belgian born wife and their daughter Margaret.

In the press contingent of foreign and American newsmen was Frazier "Spike" Hunt of International News Service.

The British liner Britannic also arrived with 768 passengers from the war zone, including Jan Masaryk, son of the president of the former Czechoslovak republic.

Masaryk witnessed the return of the British force evacuated from Flanders and reported that morale was high and the soldiers eager for a return match with the Germans.

Mrs. A. J. Cronin, mother of the British novelist now living in Maine, arrived to join her son, a little frightened at the bigness of the United States even from her first look at the New York skyline.

Pamela Wilcox, daughter of the British movie producer Herbert Wilcox, and Oliver Whitney of the British Broadcasting System were also aboard.

WASHINGTON, June 21—Acting on administration request the house banking committee today recommended passage of a bill prohibiting Germany from seizing billions of foreign money in this country without approval of the government.

The measure would permit delivery of such money to foreign governments only if they are diplomatically recognized by the state department.

Since the state department already has announced that it will not recognized German conquest of France, it is expected that the bill would prevent delivery of $1,000,000,000 in gold here by the federal reserve bank to a "puppet" government.

The measure also would apply to Holland and other nations which have been subjected by force.

with Dewey a close second. Early arrivals for the convention, which opens Monday, were showered with "dark horse" reports, in which Wendell Willkie, New York utility executive, was a leader. There is a strong Willkie organization in Philadelphia, crowding every lobby, but his drive for the nomination seems to be shy of delegates.

Willkie followers, however, claim his campaign is gaining ground every day. They assert they have won 12 delegates from Dewey in the New York state delegation and two more from Dewey in the Rhode Island delegation. In all, his followers say, he will have around 70 delegates on the first ballot and will win in a few ballots after Taft and Dewey deadlock each other.

Claims Are Made

The Taft managers claim about 340 delegates on the first ballot and add their favorite will win by the third. They expect to gain delegates from Dewey on the second ballot and stage a bandwagon stampede on the third.

Dewey managers continue to assert that the New Yorker will lead on the first ballot with more than 400 delegates. There is some worry in his camp over the Willkie campaign, because the Dewey managers regard Willkie as a greater threat to their favorite than to any other candidate. This is largely because Willkie, like Dewey, is a New Yorker and is contesting the racket-buster in eastern seaboard states—the Dewey stronghold. There have been rumors here of a Taft-Dewey accord, with Taft in first place and Dewey as the vice-presidential nominee. The report has not been denied in either camp. J. Russell Sprague, his chief manager, was asked a direct question about the rumor and merely replied:

"I have no comment to make on that."

G. O. P. Stand Altered

But, however the president's action affects individual candidates, it certainly has pushed the Republicans awaw from endorsing "aid to the allies". This phase, one influential G. O. P. leader said, "will never be seen in our platform".

Authoritative quarters said the Republican plank on international affairs would raise three points:

1. A strongly-worded condemnation of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull as "warmongers", who seek to entice the American people into the war in Europe.

2. An express promise by the Republican party to the American people to keep the United States out of Europe's war.

3. An express promise to rearm the United States, so it can be safe from invasion in any quarter.

G. O. P. Chairman Hamilton touched off the "war issue" both in his public statement and in his talk to the national committee. Publicly, he said:

Desire Intervention

"Colonel Knox's and Mr. Stimson's desire for American intervention in European affairs is so well known that their appointment speaks for itself."

To the national committee, Hamilton said:

"Both Colonel Knox and Mr. Stimson, having long desired to intervene in the affairs of Europe, the Democratic party, now, by their very appointment, has become the 'war party' of this country and we may accept that issue at its face value."

A little later, Gov. Arthur H. James, Pennsylvania's favorite-son candidate, observed:

"If time proves to be well grounded the fears of those who insist that these two new cabinet officers already are committed to internationalism and war, then it can only be said that they will both be more at home among the New Dealers than in the Republican party."

French playwright, Robert Rothschild, Belgian Public Health Minister Jaspar and former French Air Minister Pierre Cot.

Two-thirds of the refugees were British and most of the other one-third were divided among French, Poles and Czechs. Four American newspapermen aboard the vessel were the only United States citizens.

There were 25 British corerspondents and several French journalists.

All these 1,500 refugees, including the most experienced journalists of France, Britain and America, are living in a half-dream, or rather in a nightmare, because none of us yet realize that what has happened is real.

Hard To Believe

That France, this great country with its great army should have collapsed in five weeks, should have been nearly completely over-run and conquered in very little more time than it took to conquer Poland, that today the gravest question before the panic-stricken world is whether the French navy wil be surrendered to Germany—these are facts which to us now witnessing them at close range seem to be imagined fancies.

Yet all of us have more reason than most to know how real these facts are.

We left Paris shortly after the French government and went to Tours, May 10. We were there five days before the government was removed again to Bordeaux.

Those were days full of false hopes and repeated asurances that the French army would hold.

It was impossible to report otherwise through the French censorship, which continued to the very end to be extremely harmful to the French cause.

Great Military Rout

But it was plain to us from repeated visits to the French front that, however large a role German material strength may have played in this French tragedy, it was French morale which broke and decided the issue.

The outside world knew only a fraction of the truth about the Germans' first break through and across the Meuse River early in May. This was one of the greatest military routs in history.

aimed at wholesale murder. All evidence thus far gathered was turned over to the homicide bureau.

Watch For Saboteurs

Detectives and police, both private and public, stood guard through the night at public buildings, office buildings, newspaper plants, tunnels, bridges, power houses and other likely targets for saboteurs.

The hunt for the person or persons who recently stole 39 sticks of dynamite from a west side construction project was intensified. It was believed the dynamite may have been stolen for purposes of widespread terrorism and mass killings.

Although police maintained a strict silence, it was learned a huge roundup of known subversive elements will probably soon take place.

Dewey's aides said a dozen witnesses of the blast in the Daily Worker building had been questioned but that no important clues were obtained.

The more serious of the two blasts took place on the eighteenth floor of the building in battery place which houses the German consulate on a floor above. In this blast nine persons were hurt, Joseph McKillin, the elevator operator, being the only one to require hospitalization. A woman standing in the hallway was spattered by glass fragments by the explosion in the Daily Worker building which occurred about 50 minutes later.

The explosion in the Nazi consulate building blew out glass doors, windows and partitions and wrecked the office furniture. It occurred in the offices of the Deutscher Handels and Wirtschaftsdienst and the Antrage Ruckwanderung Divisenfragen which were said by attaches to the foreign exchange and economic organizations.

PRESIDENT WARNS AMERICAS MUST UNITE FOR TRADE

inferntially read himself out as a third term candidate by nominating Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war and Col. Frank Knox as secretary of the navy. Roosevelt aides suggested that Stimson, who served as secretary of state under Herbert Hoover and secretary of war under William Howard Taft, and Knox who was the 1936 G. O. P. vice-presidential nominee, could hardly have been persuaded to accept a "non-partisan, emergency national defense job" with the new deal if they thought it would terminate on January 20, 1941.

President Roosevelt's week-end stay at his Hudson valley home was to be opened with a press conference from which, it was earlier announced, will come a formal statement explaining the urgent need for all of Central and South America to join with the United States in a trade cartel frankly aimed at Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy and their possible economic associates in event of totalitarian victory in the European war.

Before leaving Washington the president approved a specific plan for formation of a mammoth inter-American trading corporation to control all exportable surpluses in the western hemisphere. Governments of the Pan-American republics were being sounded out on it today—as presumably is Canada.

the cabinet indicated he would not run for a third term, and that he was setting up a "war cabinet and a war party."

Mr. Roosevelt said he had seen all kinds of things charged since the Stimson-Knox appointments were announced. If he commented on one specifically, he would have to comment on all.

The best answer, the president continued, came to him last night after he had gone to bed and was thinking about the general situation.

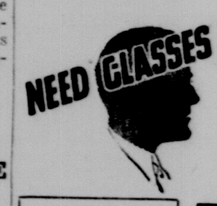

He realized, he said, there is some sort of difference between kinds of people—those who think in terms of patriotic motives and those who think in terms of partisan motives.

Further, deponent sayeth not, he concluded, except to point to his formal statements of yesterday that he was undertaking "a defensive program not aimed at intervention in world affairs which do not concern the American hemisphere."

SMITH-STONE WEDDING IN SECOND U. P. CHURCH

A pretty wedding which took place in the Second United Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, was that of Miss Elizabeth A. Smith, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wenderholm, of Washington, D. C., and John Smith of this city, when she became the bride of George Edgar Stoné of Boomton, N. J.

The vows were pledged in the presence of an assemblage of 100 relatives and friends of the couple, with the pastor, Rev. J. Calvin Rose, officiating. He used the impressive single ring service, before the beautifully embanked altar.

Appropriate nuptial music was played by Miss Ruth Weir, at the organ, and Miss Olive Fern Sanford, who presided at the piano.

For her wedding, the bride was gowned in white net, made with full toe length skirt, and adorning her head was a coronation of white velvet flowers. She carried an arm cluster of white carnations, roses and daisies, and was given in marriage by her uncle, Joseph Leyde of this city.

Miss Camilla M. Smith Bride Of Laird William Myers Today

Attired in a white organza toe length gown, embossed with butterflies and flowers, made with short puff sleeves edged with white baby velvet, featuring a wasp waist and train, Miss Camilla M. Smith was the picture of loveliness for her marriage to Laird William Myers, in a pretty wedding which took place this morning at 11:30 o'clock, in the First Methodist church. Her fingertip veil was made halo effect lined with chiffon, and tiny clusters of valley lilies peeked through, framing her face. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and valley lilies and Stephhanoitis, tied with a series of cascading white ribbon streamers, knotted with bits of valley lilies A string of matched pearls was her only jewelry.

The bride, a talented musician who has gained much recognition, is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith of 1025 Croton avenue, and had her sister, Miriam, as her maid of honor and only attendant. She was attired in a pink chiffon creation, which too was made quaint with full skirt and fitted bodice and shirred jacket. Her dainty small sailor hat, encrested with flowers was trimmed in matching velvet and her colonial bouquet was of pink roses and blue cornflowers, giving a striking contrast.

John D. Thompson, of 709 Young street, served the bridegroom as best man, and ushering were Roy C Williams and Gerald Morris.

The church altar was beautifully decorated for the occasion with palms and ferns being used in unique arrangement, and tall standards holding white snapdragons at either side, took the place of lighted candles, as a new inovation. The single ring service was used with Dr. W. V. McLean, pastor, officiating in the presence of a throng of friends and relatives of the young couple.

Contributing further to the impressiveness of the occasion, Edwin Lewis, organist, played a program of the bride's favorite numbers. He included the first movement of the "Moonlight Sonata" and others, also, the Lohengrim Wedding March for the processional and Mendelssohn's for the recessional.

Mr. Lewis accompanied as guest soloist, Mrs. Clinton Keagy, an aunt of the bride, who is one of New Castle's foremost musicians. In her group of songs, she sang beautifully, "Until," "Yesterday And Today," aria from "Sampson and Delilah" and "Because." Mrs. Keagy was attired in a dawn gray chiffon gown, with shoulder bouquet of pink roses.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the couple received congratulations in the church, while triumphant echoes of nuptial music were resounded by Mr. Lewis, on the organ.

The bride is a graduate of New Castle High with the class of '32 and from the Fillion Studios under the tutorage of Einart Reagan, of Pittsburgh, and is a talented and artistic pianist. STEADY, AMERICA—Steady, cool thinking, with a long look ahead, is needed by the people of America in these unsteady days. Our readers are urged to take an unemotional account of the state of the world and of the nation and to look ahead with calmness lest our American people lose faith in our democratic principles. By intelligent appraisal of events overseas, let us continue to emphasize the thought that American youth shall not be sacrificed on a foreign battlefield, and that this hemisphere must be prepared to defend itself against enemy aliens and military aggression. By such a policy, we believe, peace will be assured to a peaceful people.

CENSUS RETURNS AND CITY POPULATIONS

CENSUS returns from most sections of the United States so far revealed, show that large cities have made no gains of any account during the past ten years, at least not within the city boundaries. In most cases, large residential sections have developed outside the city limits, and the population of the city proper has failed to increase. To all practical purposes however, these residential sections are a part of the cities, for the people are dependent upon employment in the cities for their sustenance.

Pennsylvania's largest city, Philadelphia, was revealed as a few thousand population lower this year than ten years ago. The fact moves the Philadelphia Inquirer to remark:

The 1940 census returns show that Philadelphia's population has fallen off seven-tenths of one per cent since 1930. In other words, there are 15,875 fewer residents than there were ten years ago.

Does this mean that this city is slipping, that its populace is moving away because of this or that unfavorable conditions? The answer is positively no. The professional viewers of alarm who profess to find in the census figures huge gobs of gloom can put away their crying towels. There is nothing to be upset about.

Following a trend exhibited in many other cities, large numbers of Philadelphia families have merely moved across the city line and taken up residence in one or other of the spacious suburbs for which this city is famous. Not dislike of Philadelphia, but a natural desire to make their homes in less crowded neighborhoods, is behind this move, and it has been aided by high-speed transportation facilities that make suburban commutation easy and inexpensive.

Precisely the same kind of population change is taking place in New York, as reflected by the census figures. Manhattan's population, like that of Philadelphia, is virtually unchanged for the decade, but that of Queens and other outlying boroughs have been greatly increased.

It is needful to consider the population of the whole metropolitan district of Philadelphia to arrive at any fair conclusion. If we do that we find that the city's decrease of 15,000 is more than offset by the gain of 50,000 in the next-door counties like Montgomery and Delaware. The net result for the area is a substantial and healthy population increase of 35,000 persons.

The geographical fact that some sections of Montgomery and Delaware counties are closer to the heart of Philadelphia than many parts of the city proper has contributed to the astonishing growth of the suburban communities. Another factor has been high-speed transit service to 69th street and the construction of the Delaware River Bridge.

Greater Philadelphia continues to grow. Its suburbs are among its priceless assets and their gain, in the long run, is Philadelphia's gain.

THE WORLD TOMORROW

When the emotionalism aroused by earth-shaking events has subsided somewhat and free people begin to ponder more calmly and rationally the effects of Nazi victory they will arrive at the disturbing conclusion that the future of the United States, as well as that of other surviving democracies, will be profoundly affected.

In one way or another, the life of every citizen of this country will be influenced by the fall of France.

It is hardly possible to think without tears of France, with her republican government, her great cities, with their masterpieces of architecture, picturesque villages, her beautiful countryside and appealing way of life. And it is equally agonizing to permit the mind to dwell on the impending storm from the east that shortly may strike at the little island of England.

A great deal of what lies in the future cannot be anticipated. The possibilities and the probabilities are so numerous and so vast that they cannot even be suggested. But at least three things are certain: The period ahead will be hard and brutal. This will be a world dominated by the sword, or, more literally, by the tank and plane. And it will be a world in which Christianity will be compelled to struggle desperately in order to survive.

With Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin as its guiding geniuses, the world of the immediate future will have little time or place for the teachings of the First Christian, a prospect which holds a lesson for America. When this nation rearms, it also must rearm spiritually, gathering sustenance and strength from the faith of the Founding Fathers and from the traditions of freedom which have been the nation's priceless heritage.

A return of the Dark Ages is unpleasantly close. Americans must at least see to it that in this land the light of freedom does not go out.

INDIA REMAINS LOYAL

The British picture is dark these days, but a ray of light comes from India. That vast and populous realm has been demanding independence. But Mahatma Gandhi, spiritual ruler and political leader of 300,000,000 Hindus, recently announced that he would not take advantage of Britain's plight and would wait for redress of grievances until the war was over.

Now the pro-British swing goes farther. There is soon to be a meeting of the All-Indian Nationalist Congress and the Moslem League to reconsider their attitude toward Britain. Italy's entry into the war, which has inspired some other fence-sitting nations to join in the effort to crush Britain, seems to make the supposedly hostile people of India more loyal. They are now arresting the Italians in Simla and other cities. Dictators wouldn't understand it.

This action is complimentary to Britain. The Hindus and Moslems obviously prefer the comparatively mild British yoke to such rule they might expect from the Nazis or Fascists.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUNG MOTHER SPEAKS

Most will like the following; I certainly do.

"Dear Dr. Myers: There seems to be a plethora of articles in the current magazines upon the subject of the understanding or misunderstanding of children by parents, and vice versa, particularly adolescent children and their problems. In the first place, it seems to me that the problem is much more deep-seated than that and has its beginnings in babyhood. I believe that if parents build the proper foundation from the beginning, including necessary discipline, that adolescence won't present too many problems which can't be solved.

"I am speaking in the light of my own experience, both past and present. I was married at 19 and a baby daughter was born a year later. Two years ago, we had a son, and so we feel well on the road to parenthood with a daughter of 5½ years and a boy of two.

"I went to high school and the state university and although I had a grand time, I don't feel that any of my experiences—at least not many—were any that I wouldn't care to have my daughter indulge in. I don't drink or smoke—never have cared about it.

Cause and Effect

"Right now, and since the very beginning, our children are learning the law of 'cause and effect'. For instance, Anne is perfectly free to visit her friends in the neighborhood provided she tells me where she is going and returns when I tell her to. If she doesn't, she spends the next day in her own yard. She dries the dishes and vacuums the living-room rug every morning, and receives an allowance of 10c a week.

"She can prepare herself for school with no assistance and sets the table frequently. I expect to increase her allowance gradually, until by the time she is in high school she will be buying her own clothes (and accepting more responsibility) . . .

"I'm young (always since I was small, I wanted to get married young and have my children young). I have a personality of my own which I don't intend to let die (I enjoy handicraft, bridge, picnics, swimming, skating, skiing), and a family is poor indeed when the individuals in it demand more than they are willing to give.

Won't Indulge Whims

"Too many parents make slaves and doormats of themselves, and where does it get them? Our children have most (not all) of the things children like to make them happy, but I don't intend to go without some necessity just to indulge my children's whims.

"And I know what it is to work hard too. After Betty was born Mr. ——— went away to teach summer school and I was left with everything—washing, ironing, cleaning, gardening, cutting the grass, everything. It was hard, and I don't know how I did it. The only help I've had at any time has been for the first two weeks after the second baby was born. I'm none the worse for the experience, and I'm sure it did me a lot of good.

"I'll only be 35 when Anne is 15 and I'm looking forward to the time with great expectation. I'll be young enough to remember how I felt and acted at that tender age, and I hope Anne will feel free to bring her problems to me. It will be such fun to do things together and we're doing that now too. In the meantime I hope I'm not overlooking any of her character development. I answer all her questions as accurately as possible, stand by to give her needed encouragement or punishment, read to her every night before bed. I short, I hope I'm doing everything a good parent should do without submerging her own personality."

ASSISTANCE

There's pride in being needed,
there's joy in being called!
Your hermit is a stranger whose soul is granite-walled.
Nor is there any sadness so keen
the while we live
As meeting need for money and having none to give.

That self-respect we talk of is born
alone of deeds,
Of meeting debts with honor and sharing other's needs.
Of serving some good purpose beyond our selfish own
And having aid to offer when want is plainly shown.

Man's years are told in labors, professions and in trades
In charities he gives to; the public works he aids,
From all the deeds of mercy in which his neighbors share
Come self-respect and friendship and reputation fair.

Nor skill nor wit nor courage sufficient pride contain,
The cleverest and the strongest his neighbors' love must gain,
For some unselfish purpose a man
must also live,
For all that leaves him happy is what he has to give.

HINTS AND DINTS

After a man does a lot of nasty things he doesn't stand very high with people he wants favors of.

FUTILITY

They went to war, they fought to die,
All for democracy.

And thousands more were left to cry,
All for democracy.

With blood and steel they fought and won,
Peace for democracy.

Yet now their efforts are undone,
Where is democracy?

O'er twenty years have flown away
Since they saved democracy.

Must history repeat today
To resave democracy?

A male friend says: One way to tell whether a woman is able to make up her mind is to watch her trying to back into a parking space.

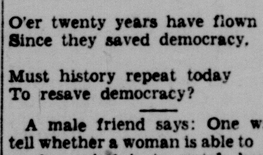

Some people think a war would not be much worse than four years more of the administration in Washington.

FRIEND IS BEST

There's a pot of gold, so I've been told,
To be found at the rainbow's end.
But the treasure there cannot compare
With the pleasure of having a friend.
A friend who's been tried and found true blue,
Who will stick through thick and thin;
Someone who's sad if you happen to lose
And glad if you happen to win.
For friendship is life to a lonely soul
Giving courage and vigor anew.
So I'm glad indeed that my friend in need
Is nobody else but you.

No man likes to be taken for a cash register.

Politics has it's mouth open from year to year. In presidential years the opening is wider.

GOT JOB THERE

A story is told of a man who had been job-hunting for many weeks. One day he came to a construction job.

"Can I work?" he asked the foreman.

"Grab a hammer," said the foreman. The man worked for three days, and then asked for pay.

"Pay!" exclaimed the foreman. "We are building a new church and are donating our labor. Don't you belong to our church?"

He says he was going through a cornfield one day when he heard the baby ear of corn say: Mama, where did I come from?" And he swears the mama ear replied: "Darling, the stalk brought you."

Good sign for a chicken coop: "Any person found near my chicken cop at night will be found there the next morning."

Some satisfaction may be found in that no churches have been razed to make parking room.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

You may safely gauge a man's true greatness indirectly in proportion to the red tape required to see him. The ignorant parvenue who has married a majority of the stock and suddenly climbed thereon to the presidency will surround himself with secretaries radiating an aura of unwelcome to visitors who condescend to approach the presidential office. The really great executive is easily accessible when not actually conferring with someone. The bootblack who comes daily to shine his shoes does not hesitate to chat with him. His secretaries are trained to make every caller feel welcome. They never admit to a newcomer, that he is unwelcome because unknown. Instead they enter with him into a confidential chat through which they subtly size him up and sound out the importance of his visit. If he has to be turned away he exits with a feeling that the great man behind the door inside the fence will surely regret having missed him. Private secretaries skilled in such diplomacy frequently become great executives themselves. One of President Lincoln's secretaries—John Hay——became Secretary of State and Theodore Roosevelt's secretary George B. Cortelyou, afterward became a Cabinet member.

Reader's Questions Answered

Question: We are giving our parents a dinner on their golden anniversary. Who should propose the toast? Is there any rule about this?

Answer: The eldest son usually proposes the first toast. If there is no son, the eldest daughter may do so. The youngest grandson might also toast his grandparents, and so might the "best man" if still living and at the dinner.

Question: A friend suggests that I give my small daughter a weekly allowance, rather than have her constantly asking me for spending money. She is eight. Do you think she is too young for an allowance?

—Mother

Answer: Every child whose parents can afford to do so should be given a small weekly allowance. When the child has spent this sum she will know that no more is forthcoming. Eventually, she will realize that she must budget herself to make her money last over a week. Family friction will thus be lessoned and the child will be given some training in thrift.

My mouth is three inches wide acrosst, five-eights of an inch threw the jaw and some hummocky on the edges. Jaw is shaped like a hoss-shew, with the toe forward. TOO TRUTHFUL

Tact is a wonderful thing. A country editor always bragged that he had plenty of it, until suddenly he had to leave town.

What's What At A Glance

Is United States Pre-Belligerent?
Italo-Americans Are Not Happy Now
Disapprove Of Mussolini's Action

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 21. — The English press has hit upon the term "pre-belligerency" as descriptive of Uncle Sam's present attitude toward the war.

Of course the assumption is that Uncle Samuel will drop the "pre" shortly and become a belligerent outright. That he actually will send American troops to the Allies' aid isn't definitely forecast, but there's no doubt that British commentators are counting on much more substantial assistance from this side of the Atlantic than they have received thus far.

Just who originally evolved the expression "pre-belligerency" isn't entirely clear. It made its appearance directly after President Roosevelt's last fireside chat, during which, incidentally, F. D. denounced Italy for "stabbing the French in the back."

It certainly was a pro-Allied chat, but it was rather odd that a perfect chorus of John Bull's biggest newspapers was inspired to refer to it by the identical word, "pre-belligerent." It rather sounded as if some propagandizing official in the London government information bureau had tipped the English correspondents here (we have some very clever ones, like Sir Wilmott Lewis of the London Times) embodied the expression in a dispatch and the editors, across the pond, borrowed it, as just what they wanted in their own scribes' stories.

Anyhow, we figured as pre-belligerent in so many English dailies, all at once, that it occurred to somebody to cable the information to the state department for whatever it might consider it worth.

Italians Decidedly Glum

Chief J. Edgar Hoover's FBI, according to inside hints, doesn't anticipate much difficulty with Italians in this country as a squel to Signor Mussolini's entrance into the war.

Precisely why it is that our Italian settlements have been less affected by their homeland's prejudices than German-Americans have been affected by Nazi-ism, or other nationalities by Communism, isn't altogether clear.

The fact remains that we've had a modicum of Nazi-ism and Communism in our midst.

Jittery investigators probably have exaggerated it, but it's existed more or less. FBI agents, going over the ground following the activities of non-professional inquisitors, have reported that the latters' conclusions are at least partly justified.

Italian-Americans, however, all along have been practically as solidly American as if they had no Italian backgrounds back of them. They gave every indication of a strong disinclination to a declaration by Il Duce in favor of any of the combatant nations.

Evidently they realized that their interests here would suffer from such a development, and it's clear that they were much more deeply concerned in their own local welfare than in the promotion of Benito Mussolini's ambitions in the Mediterranean.

Incidentally the influence of a really great Italian (not by birth, but by parentage) like Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York, in a prominent place in American public life, doubtless has weighed heavily with his people.

Anyway, Italian-Americans looked pretty glum when Benito's war declaration was making its appearance and they've been looking glum ever since. It was exactly what the overwhelming bulk of them didn't want. The FBI's best information is that, as Trojan horses, they won't be worth a cent in the U. S. A.

As To Dictatorships

Just after Signor Mussolini had issued his declaration of hostilities against the Allies, President Vargas of Brazil issued a neutrality proclamation.

Now, President Vargas is a dictator himself.

In connection with his neutrality decree he explained that he didn't want to be misunderstood as minimizing the necessity for changes in government. He agreed that democracy appears to be on the slide, totalitarianism on the upgrade.

This was internationally interpreted as a neutrality declaration

Our Good Neighbors

WASHINGTON, June 21. THE plan of the president to form a vast "cartel system" which will establish economic unity among all the "Americas" as a bulwark against German economic domination is one of those things that sound better than they are. It is perhaps a helpful gesture and it aids in preserving an illusion more or less necessary. But that it can be put into effective operation few posted people believe.

ALL presidents, more or less, have taken the attitude that the interests, aims, ideals and governmental principles of the United States and the Latin-American republics are identical and that we are all bound together by ties of mutual respect and affection. That assumption is regulation so far as the state department is concerned. The Big Brother pose is, of course, the only one consistent with the Monroe Doctrine, which we have cherished for 117 years; and the Good Neighbor policy, which the president and his predecessors have promulgated, is simply enlightened and intelligent. None other would be tolerated.

NEVERTHELESS, realistic members of the administration are entirely aware that the interests, aims, ideals and governmental principles of the nations south of us on this hemisphere are by no means identical. As for those bonds of brotherly love — they are completely non-existent. As a matter of fact, there is not a single such bond—or anything resembling one—between us and a single one of the Central and South American countries. So far from having the same governmental principles and political systems, most of their range from the kind of loose dictatorships which we dislike to the sort of mob democracy which borders on chaos. Sometimes they swing from one to the other. The pretense that our system and their systems are the same just isn't so.

THE truth is that the feeling of these nations toward the United States varies from one of lukewarm friendliness to one of intense resent-

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LINDBERGH.

Colonel Lindbergh has had the reputation of talking very little. Newspaper men, reporters particularly, have never been able to get him to talk and, consequently, American newspapers, generally, have shown a keen resentment and have for years made life just as miserable as they knew how for the Colonel.

The reaction to Lindbergh's recent radio talk shows how the minds of Americans have been prejudiced by the newspaper men. It was surprising that Lindbergh would consent to make a radio address and his talk was a very sensible one, but very distasteful to New Dealers.

Colonel Lindbergh has had a remarkable opportunity to observe war planes of all European countries. He was entertained by Stalin in Russia and by Hitler in Germany. The very amazing thing is that Hitler and Goering seemed to have gone out of their way to show their war machinery to the Colonel. They even decorated him and the American Press went straight up into the air over the fact that Lindbergh was going to receive a decoration from the Fuehrer. I suppose they expected Lindbergh to throw the decoration in his face and tell him he wanted none of his tinware.

Consider for a moment what Lindbergh gained for these United States by his courteous treatment of both Stalin and Hitler. He of all Americans and of all men is best qualified to advise the present administration as to how they should build war planes for defense and what sort of pilots and mechanists are necessary, but no, the administration would have none of him. The spokesman on the floor of the Senate belittled the Colonel as much as possible. He was just an accidental flyer who happened to be successful in flying the Atlantic,—no greater than "Wrong Way" Corrigan. Why should the government pay any attention to him?

The Colonel is an intelligent man. He has had more opportunity to study aviation from every angle than any other living man, and he is still an American notwithstanding all the grief that Americans have caused him. If he has no place in the councils of National air defense, it will be a great calamity to this country.

The Great Game Of Politics

ment and suspicion. Among the more hard-headed state department officials, this absence of brotherly love is not only freely conceded but the conviction is held that there never will be anything like warm national regard between them and us. There are a good many reasons for this upon which there is not space here to dwell, but fundamentally, they can be summed up in the statement that there is not only a political but a racial gulf between us. Those with the best grasp of the facts are convinced not only that the cost of any defense of this hemisphere will have to be borne wholly by the United States but that some of the South American countries do not want to be defended by us, really would rather deal with Europe.

ACTUALLY, the German influence as of today in many of these South American countries is far greater than ours; in some it is clearly dominant. For one thing, the air lines that run up both coasts from Tierra del Fuego to Guiana on the west and Colombia on the east are completely under Nazi control. There are in the three countries closest to the Panama Canal: Venezuela, 4,000 Germans; Colombia, 3,600 Germans; Ecuador, 5,500 Germans. In Brazil there are 900,000 Germans; in Argentina, 336,000; in Chile, 200,000; in Paraguay, 20,000; in Montevideo, 10,000; in Peru, 3,300 Germans.

ALTOGETHER, it is estimated that there are 1,400,000 Germans in South America and there are two Nazi-controlled air bases not too far off from the Panama Canal. In addition, the United States News asserts that one-third of the population of Uruguay is Italian, that there are 3,000,000 Italians in Argentina and 2,000,000 in Brazil. To a considerable extent these German and Italian groups dominate the industry, agriculture and finance of these nations—and sometimes their politics. While the Germans are less numerous than the Italians, they are infinitely more dominant. These figures, obtained from the most reliable source, show an astounding penetration and explain the deep concern of administration officials over the South American situation.

WITH these things in mind, the recent speech of President Vargas of Brazil, in which he seemed to incline toward the dictators and away from the Rooseveltian friendship, naturally caused perturbation, and the relief was great when it was later explained that a wrong interpretation had been put on it and Brazil really loved us as a brother. That isn't true, of course, and the inside facts of the incident have not been published. What has been published is that some weeks ago we were on the point of sending troops to Brazil to "assist in keeping order." Altogether the South American situation is bad. If trouble comes for us with Germany, it is almost certain to come from that direction.

THE more candid officials here admit this privately, though publicly, of course, they strongly proclaim the Good Will policy and cling to the Big Brother pose. Soon or late, they feel that a hundred per cent insistence upon the Monroe Doctrine is apt to force us into defending nations that don't really want to be defended and will not aid us in the defense. Perhaps they are wrong, but the figures showing the extraordinary Nazi penetration now existing at least deserve consideration. Neither the president nor the state department officials can afford to speak on the subject, but there are some—not officials—who can and do.

ONE of these is former Ambassador James W. Gerard, who frequently sees Mr. Roosevelt. Said Mr. Gerard the other day: "Two of the most prosperous states in Brazil are practically German. When I was in Germany I saw that the government was taking every measure to keep them Germanic. That is where the first attack against us will come, spreading to the Argentine and then, perhaps, to Mexico, where the Nazis and Communists are allying against us now."

Perhaps it isn't as bad as Mr. Gerard asserts, but there certainly are facts enough to make this Big Brother-Good Neighbor stuff seem a little silly. There is, of course, nothing else to do, but it seems to some that it might be wise not to get ourselves too deeply committed to defend too many people.

indeed, but as a qualified indorsement of Nazi-ism, Fascism or Communism.

Learning, in press dispatches; how he was being quoted, Senor Vargas made a supplementary speech. Don't mistake him, he said—he believes in a dictatorship, but in a kind that he himself runs. He'd fight the Hitler, Mussolini or Stalin kind to his last breath — they're worse than democracy even.

That's substantially the situation throughout the Latin Americas. There's plenty of local dictatorial sentiment in most of them. But let somebody offer an imported article and they're a Pan-American unit in resisting it.

Camera Club Have Annual Exhibit At Castleton Hotel

New Castle Club Will Show Amateur Prints; Members Will Banquet June 25

New Castle Camera club associates and other local interested amateur photography fiends are all atwitter over the approaching exhibition print hanging, which will be a feature event of next week. The Castleton Hotel has been selected as the showplace and the prints, which will include only those taken, filmed, enlarged and completed by the amateur photographers themselves, will be shown on June 28, 29 and 30.

Prints, which are purely exhibitional, not competive, will be hung only on their own merit and finished process of the contestants. These will presumably include snaps of landscapes, portraits, still life, table tops and general scenery. The entire showing is limited to fifty hangings.

Upwards of one thousand interested spectators attended the showing last year at this time and an even larger crowd is expected at this show, due to the large increase in the past year, of Camera Club members. Ballots will be presented to each guest and there will be a popular vote.

Judges for the hanging will be David Owens, New Castle, and Edward Salt, of Youngstown.

Tuesday evening, June 25, members of the Camera Club will banquet with the judges, and a social hour will ensue after the serving. At this time, the fifty prints to be shown, will be selected from the entire list of those submitted.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SLEEP

While this column is primarily devoted to child welfare, our subject today is adult sleeping habits. This isn't straying as far afield as may seem at first thought, for bad sleeping habits make bad parents, or at least irritable parents. So their sleeping habits have a good deal to do with the child's welfare.

With adults, the biggest problem seems to be "Insomnia". I think the biggest cause of "insomnia" is is worrying about "insomnia". I place the word in quotation marks because we are talking about something that isn't true insomnia—true insomnia is not common.

Every doctor knows the determined insomniac well, and in fact, I think a good many families have one around. This person, usually, a woman, but sometimes a man, has a regular breakfast topic: "I didn't sleep a wink all night. I heard the clock strike every hour from one o'clock until six."

I have had persons tell me this every day for years. Yet they were healthy, active people. I remember one woman who continually talked about her lack of sleep. I knew it was all in her own mind, so one day I informed her that she was so healthy she didn't need as much sleep as others. That was why she didn't sleep all night like other persons. That cured her, as I expected it would. She just wanted to be talking about herself, and when I gave her this theme to talk about she went around telling everyone how healthy she was and how little sleep she needed.

As a matter of fact I think most adults sleep too much anyway, and so even though you do lose a night or two of sleep, it won't do you much harm. There is nothing wrong with you if you don't sleep as much as you think you should. Probably if you'd quit worrying about it you would sleep more".

I have found that telling most patients these simple facts is usually enough to effect a cure, unless they are more advanced cases than the woman, referred to above, who had to have lack of sleep as a subject for conversation.

As I have said myself in these columns, sleep is very important in childhood. It is drilled into children that they must get plenty of sleep; that sleep is essential to them if they are to grow big and strong. I often think that this lesson is drilled into our minds so completely as children, that we carry the same sense of its importance into our adulthood, and unnecessarily. The reason sleep is so important to children is that they grow in their sleep. Once this period of growth is completed, then sleep is not so important.

Of course, adults still need adequate rest and sleep, especially in these strenuous modern days when we burn up so much nervous energy. But there is no minimum that we must get, in hours, I mean. All we need to do is get enough so that we are refreshed and rested next day. Different people will require different periods. Some people need eight hours a night, some need less.

The persons who come to me saying that they only sleep six hours a night don't worry me as much as those who find that they must sleep ten hours to feel right.

Community Hall Ready At Park

Other Improvements Are Being Made At Cascade Says Coulthard

At Cascade Park, the Community Hall is assuming splendid shape. The auditorium is well lighted, and the spacious stage with its footlights can now be used.

Some dressing rooms have been completed, and Superintendent C. C. Coulthard states that several more are being added.

About 365 new chair seats have arrived, and have been set in place in the body of the hall, with seats for over 200 persons in the balcony at the rear.

Soon, new curtains will be installed to enhance the stage scenery.

Visitors at the park are much interested in the building, and speak of the many uses for such a meeting place.

Improvements are being made continually at the park under the direction of Mr. Coulthard. Permanent channelling is now being made on either side of the road leading south from the dance pavillion, to take care of the rain storm water, carying same to a large sewer.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 21.—The state capital has been transferred to Philadelphia "for the duration".. When the Republican national convention completes its work, it will return..Until then, all important government officials, with the exception of those connected with the Democratic-controlled auditor general's and treasurer's detpartment, can be located at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, the Bellevue Stratford, or Convention Hall at Philadelphia. A general exodus from Harrisburg of prominent (and otherwise) Republican leaders and government officials started some five days before the convention opened..As there will be a four-day holiday soon after the close of the G. O. P. convention, state government affairs will be unusually quiet from now until after the July 4th weekend.

Pennsylvania politicians believe the Republican convention will be a lengthy one, highlighted by a deadlock between Taft and Dewey.. Precedent, however, is against a long session..Since 1924 the Republicans have selected their candidates on the first ballot..The 1880 convention lasted six days with James A. Garfield nominated on the 36th ballot..Eight years later, Benjamin Harrison was selected on the eighth ballot, the convention lasting six days.

One effect of the war is seen in the disclosure that additional protection is being provided for the state military reservation at Indiantown Gap..State motor police from the Lebanon sub-station, acting under an agreement with the department of military affairs, will periodically patrol the 12,000 acres on which are several warehouses..The Indiantown Gap reservation can accommodate from 30,000 to 40,000 persons in the event it is needed for training soldiers under an increased national defense program.

State health authorities say the new marriage act is working well.. Inaugurated on May 17 it provides for syphilis tests before certificates of marriage can be issued..Dr. E. S. Everhart is in charge of the act's administration.

Pennsylvania's magnificent Capitol continues to attract visitors from throughout the country. Capitol guides reported that during one week in June parties from half the states in the union toured the Capitol..In the week commencing June 5 there were visiting parties from New Jersey, North Carolina, Maryland, Florida, Connecticut, Montana, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Texas, California, Massachusetts, South Carolina, Missouri, New Hampshire, Kansas, Illinois, Delaware, New York, Georgia, Michigan, Utah, Maine, Ohio and Minnesota.

Room 101 in the state Capitol, once the headquarters of the civil rights bureau under the Earle administration, has reverted to its old use..It was originally designed for women visitors..For a time the job mobilization committee held out there.

Monroe Doctrine Warning Given

(International News Service)

ROME, June 21.—A new warning that the American Monroe doctrine might be doomed to self-destruction was sounded by Virginio Gayda, in the authoritative Giornale D'Italia today.

Gayda, frequent mouthpiece for Premier Mussolini, said:

"America's intervention in the European war would signify the self-destruction of the fundamental Monroe Doctrine and create a precedent for legitimate future reprisal which would result in opening up the Pacific question."

Half Hour Air Battle Occurs Over Britain

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 21.—A German bomber and British pursuit planes fought a 35-minute air battle over a town on Britain's south coast today.

Anti-aircraft guns hammered at the raider, which eventually was driven off, officials said.

Aside from this bomber, no German planes crossed the English coastline during the night and there were no air raid warnings, although a number of German planes were sighted off the northeast coast last night.

During the two previous nights, waves of German bombers raided virtually all England and South Wales, killing or injuring scores.

Girl Scout Day Camp Opens At Park On July 8

Expect 200 Girls To Take Part In 10-Day Camping Adventure This Year

PROGRAM FOR CAMP ANNOUNCED TODAY

"Weather or no, 200 New Castle scouts will have ten full days of working and playing outdoors this year," Miss Regina Popp, chairman of the day camp committee of the local Girl Scout Council, stated today. The Park Commission has again generously cooperated with this city camping project of the Girl Scouts in beautiful Cascade park by making available every possible facility.

In addition to the central meeting place and store room for supplies, C. C. Coulthard, park superintendent, has offered the facilities of the new community theatre building in case of rain. "I was just as disappointed as the girls when rain prevented a camp session," Mr. Coulthard said, in making the offer, and added that he always looked forward to the annual arrival of "the girls in green" because he felt they were learning to enjoy to the fullest the park facilities, and to take pride in keeping it as attractive and neat as possible.

The camp commitee, Mrs. Ralph A. Cooper, Mrs. David Kay, Mrs. Ted Marlin, Mrs. John R. Preston, Mrs. Clyde Whittaker, Mrs. Edwin H. Willmarth, under the able chairmanship of Miss Popp, have been working for some time on various details, and at a recent committee meeting reported most of the plans and arrangements completed.

The camp will be open to all registered scouts July 8-12, 15-19 inclusive, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. A registration fee of 10 cents and a five cents-a-day fee which includes milk, is paid by each child. The balance of the operating expenses are met by the community chest allocation. The scout organization believes, with modern educators and psychologists, that a camp experience is a valuable means of developing a child's character. Through work and play in small groups of similar age, where the daily program of activities and duties are self-planned and self-managed thru the elective court of honor, future citizens in the making, develop imagination, cooperativeness and independence.

The daily program is designed to give every scout an opportunity to know the friendliness of all outdoors, new skills in campcraft, to experiment with outdoor cooking, to progress in swimming, and to explore the wonders of fields and pond and wood.

Marines Ready For Any Service

Twenty Four Hundred At Quantico Prepared To Embark On Two Hours Notice

(International News Service)

QUANTICO, Va., June 21.—The fleet force of the U. S. Marines—2,400 fully equipped, veteran troops—today are prepared to embark on two hours notice if European war developments force a crisis over island possessions of France in the western hemisphere.

Typical of marine corps preparedness was a conversation at staff headquarters between a brigadier general and an officer commanding a battalion. The general asked:

"Are you all packed?"

"All ready, sir," replied the officer.

Full details of the embarkation plan, it was learned, have been worked out in advance so that there will be no loss of time if the marines are ordered into action.

The marines, it was pointed out, occupy a unique position in the U. S. military establishment. They were created as an expeditionary force, and can move into any foreign country without formal declaration of war if the president orders it on the grounds that American interests are threatened.

For that reason, the marines stationed in the Quantico post are ready for instant action. Time tables have been worked out. If ordered to move, the marines probably would entrain for Norfolk, Va., and board troop ships. Marine Corps commanders know almost to the minute how long it will take to move the fleet force, fully equipped, together with airplane and tank squadrons, to any point in the western hemisphere.

WAR REFUGEES REACH NEW YORK

Two Ships Carrying 2200 From England Arrive This Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Two greyhounds of the Atlantic—the U. S. liner Washington and the British liner Brittanic—almost simultaneously nosed up the lower bay today to bring better than 2200 war refugees to America's shores.

Aboard the Washington, after a thrill-packed voyage from Italy and Ireland, were more than 1500 passengers, still excited over their firsthand experiences of the exigencies of war.

While off the coast of Portugal, the Washington was stopped by a submarine whose commander repeatedly emphasized his determination of torpedoing the vessel and was dissuaded only by the reiterated signal—"American ship—American ship"—from the captain of the Washington.

Wholly unexpected was the arrival of the Brittanic. Rumors immediately swept the waterfront that the Brittanic bore British marine engineers who would seek to ease the giant Queen Elizabeth, now docked here, out into the ocean on a dash for England to evacuate child refugees to North America. Among the 780 passengers aboard the Brittanic were 200 children.

AROUND CITY HALL

City of New Castle has purchased a reconditioned power shovel. It was bought in Pittsburgh several days ago, where council went to see it. However, legislation to pay for it must await Monday when council convenes in session in city hall. . . . Reynolds street is the longest city-W.P.A. paving job the city has had in the city. There are longer improved streets here but none of them were city-W.P.A. jobs. . . . Police do not permit autoists to violate traffic regulations. Pedestrians who do not obey traffic regulations hold up traffic and endanger their lives. When one is injured through his own neglect the autoist usually finds himself in hot water. There is little reason why police should not enforce safety rules for pedestrians. . . . Contagion here is at a very low ebb and obviously Pa New's health is good.

Greenwood Acres Allotment Opens

East Brook Road Farm Being Developed For Suburban Building Development

Announcement is made of the opening of a fine new suburban building development, which will be known as Greenwood Acres, by T. C. Reichard of the East Brook road at his farm, better known as the old Moffatt farm. The formal opening for public inspection takes place tomorrow.

Building lots from an acre to five acres in size have been laid out on this farm, which is one of the most fertile in Lawrence county, with a 10,000-foot frontage on the East Brook road, an improved highway. The location is approximately three miles from the center of the city, with fine school facilities in the immediate neighborhood.

Restrictions are placed on the type of homes which can be erected on the development, so that ideal home conditions will prevail for purchasers of these suburban lots, Mr. Reichert states.

On Court House Hill

Bids for a stoker for the main court house building were opened by the county commissioners on Thursday morning but because of the necessity of checking the bids and inspecting the various types of stokers, the contract will not be awarded until 10 o'clock a. m., July 3.

Five bids were received, varying in price from $688 to $1400. In this contract the price alone is not the deciding factor. The award will depend upon the type of stoker, its reputation, whether it fits the needs of the court house and its capacity. Any one of the bids submitted may be selected.

Gardner Brothers of Ellwood City submitted a bid of $1027.50. Bab's Tin Shop of New Castle submitted four prices, $845, $935, $995 and $1400, each a different stoker. W. H. Davidson Engineering company of Beaver Falls submitted two prices, $922 and $937. Penn Coal and Supply company of New Castle submitted a bid of $1310, and Stoker Sales and Service company of New Castle submitted three prices $638, $798 and $694.

The stoker selected must have a capacity of from 325 to 400 pounds of coal per hour. It will probably be the type that carries the coal directly from the bunkers to the furnace instead of having to be hand few into a hopper.

Mercantile taxes are slow in coming in, County Treasurer Earl R. Wimes stated Thursday and some of the licenses are facing a ten per cent penalty on July 1. On that date all mercantile licenses covering auctioneers, brokers and theatres must be paid. On September 1 all other licenses must have their fees paid or a ten per cent penalty goes on.

Shower baths have been installed in the bath rooms of the two new jury rest rooms on the second floor and the rooms are nearly ready for the floor covering men. The two rooms are above the jury room where the verdicts will be considered. One of the rooms is for men and the other for women. For the first time since women were made eligible to serve on juries Lawrence county will have jury rooms that comply fully with the law.

Bulk Of Portfolios Now In Washington, Census Office Says

Results of 275 of the 306 census enumeration districts which make up the Lawrence, Beaver, Butler supervisor district will have been mailed to the Washington census headquarters this evening, District Census Supervisor Jacob Venger said today.

Totals of all of Lawrence county's towns, townships and boroughs will be made public as soon as the local office in the Greer building completes its task of filing necessary reports and paying off enumerators.

Supervisor Venger thinks the New Castle total will be ready by the close of the week.

Tally sheets on the 31 enumeration districts still to be forwarded to Washington are being rushed, he said.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

No set of symptoms warns of early cancer of the stomach.

When should stomach cancer be suspected?

When indigestion does not subside after simple treatment.

The familar cancer picture is that of the advanced stage.

Stomach cancer needs early operation.

Consider a person who long endures digestive pains.

He experiences rapid loss of weight and appetitie fails.

Hemorrhage occurs and then he goes to his physician.

He should have been under his doctor's care much earlier.

Cancer claims 12,000 Pennsylvanians every year.

Many of whom die from cancer of the stomach.

Digestive disturbances needs to be promptly investigated.

SWINE COMFORT DEMANDS AMPLE SHADE AND WATER

Since swine do not perspire like human beings and some other animals, and often suffer ill effects from hot weather, it is necessary to handle them in such a way that body temperature can be kept as low as possible.

While on pasture swine need access to ample-well ventilated shade. If natural shade from trees is not available, artificial shade can be easily constructed by putting a few posts in the ground, laying poles across to form framework for a roof about four feet from the ground, and covering with about a foot of straw or old corn fodder. This recovering will provide color shade than boards or galzanized iron. A few poles or woven wire fencing on top of the covering will keep it from blowing away.

If the ground under the shade becomes dusty, oil from the crankcase of a car or tractor may be sprinkled on the ground.

Hogs require water at all times Especially during the summer do they need water to take care of body needs and to lower body temperature.

An automatic waterer attached to a barrel is much better than the old plan of pouring a bucket of water into a trough. The barrel acts as a reservoir and provides an ample supply at all times.

GRASS-LEGUME SILAGE MADE FROM HAY CROPS

Grass silage is the name given to either grasses or legumes stored green in a silo with some preservative, such as molasses or liquid phospohoric acid.

The number of Lawrence County farmers using grass or legume silage has increased each year.

Storing "grass" in the silo saves the crop with the least loss of leaves and minimum damage from weather. Unless haying weather is ideal, these losses often are serious. While grass silage cannot be made in the rain, a farmer can do it when the weather is poor for haying and can make his hay in more favorable weather.

Hay crops are cheaper to grow than corn, especially in labor costs. Good hay crops yield almost as much green weight per acre as corn silage. Furthermore, more land in in soil is desirable from the standpoint of reducing soil erosion.

Usually the silo is empty in summer. By converting part of the hay crop into silage, an excellent pasture supplement becomes available when needed.

Well-kept grass silage is high in carotene, which is largely lost in sun curing and mow sweating of hay. Good grass silage, therefore, as a winter feed should be the nearest approach to summer pasture.

Legume silage is nearly twice as high in protein as corn silage.

The hap crop this year looks like a record breaker. Much of it will be coarse and hard to cure. In spite of good pastures now, the midsummer shortage is almost sure to come. Then grass and legume silage will be welcome. Detailed information on making the silage can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension office No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

USE CRANKCASE OIL AS CONTROL FOR HOG LICE

During the summer lice multiply very rapidly and unless kept under control they will make swine very uncomfortable. As a result the hogs will not make satisfactory gains For control, lubricating oil drained from the crankcase of a car or tractor can be used without dilution.

The oil may be applied by grouping the animals in a small pen and pouring the oil over them with a sprinkling can or by dipping an old broom in the oil and shaking it over them. The animals are kept penned until they rub the oil well over each other.

Another method of application is to put an old post in the pasture and wrap and nail a gunny sack around the post so that the hogs cannot rub it loose. A can containing a few small holes is placed on top of the post. The oil is placed in the can will drip down on the sack and the pigs rubbing against the saturated sick will get the oil on them where it will do the most good.

CONVENIENT KITCHENS COME WITH PLANNING

Good kitchens do not happen. They are first carefully planned around the needs of each family. When other kitchens are studied and the homemaker experiments with her methods of work and equipment to be sure that the new kitchen will save time and energy for her.

Planning a kitchen for a new house is much simpler than remodeling, reminds Miss Julia Markle, home economics extension representative, of Lawrence county. The new one can be arranged in the house plans so that it will be well lighted and well-ventilated. It can be large or small according to the needs of the homemaker.

In a new house the entrance and connecting doors of the kitchen can be conveniently placed to eliminate traffic through the work areas. Cupboards can be made compact and work units can be placed to save time and steps.

Changing the old kitchen into a labor saving one may require more ingenuity to meet the standard the family desires, she points out. It is not always easy or inexpensive to change the location of doors and windows or to place large pieces of equipment, where they are most needed.

It may be easy to remodel old cupboards. Narrow shelves can be added between the wide ones and racks for kettles covers and spice jars can be put in suitable places. Plywood and wooden packing cases can be used for the shelves. It is necessary to recover rough floors with new boards or have them sanded before laying new linoleum.

Many of the changes needed to revamp kitchens in Lawrence Co. may be made by the family, believes Miss Markle. Careful planning and home labor should put remodeling within the reach of most families who are interested in having attractive and convenient kitchens.

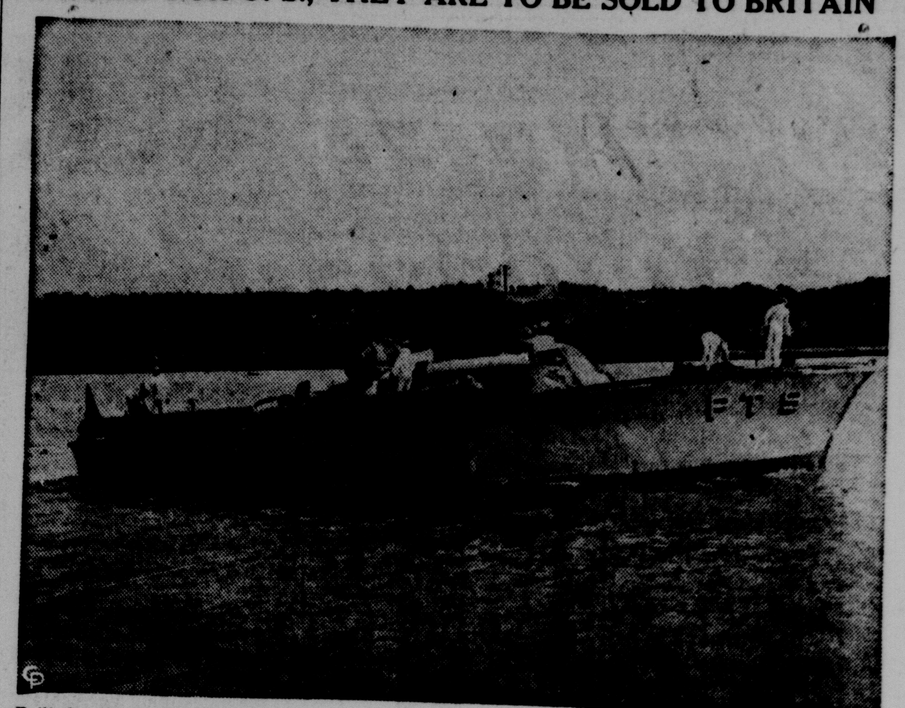

Other suggestions for making over kitchens are given in a circular, "Convenient Kitchens Make Housework Efficient." A copy of this publication may be secured free by writing to the Agricultural Extension office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Son Of Butler Police Chief Is Cleared Of Charge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 21.—Anthony Graham, 24-year-old son of Butler, Pa., chief of police, was cleared today of holdup charges. His "double," Francis Rodgers, 22, of Pittsburghs confessed the holdup for which Graham had been accused, county detectives said.

Graham, despite a seemingly airtight alibi, was identified by Meyer Davis as the man who robbed him of $110 in his store in downtown Pittsburgh. The youth contended he had spent the evening with a friend, Miss Gladys oore, of Wilkinsburg, and this was verified by the family.

Graham and Rodgers resemble each other greatly.

Rodgers was seized after an unsuccessful holdup attempt in a hotel bar in the Golden Triangle. He admitted two store holdups and finally signed a confession in the Davis robbery, the detectives said.

BALL PYTHON LAYS EGGS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—For the first time in zoological history, a ball python has laid eggs in captivity at the Philadelphia Zoo, Curator Roger Conant announced recently. The python, a native of West Africa, laid six eggs—and is hatching them by coiling herself around them. Ball pythons are so named, Conant said, because they roll themselves nto a tight coil when alarmed.

Brief Ceremony As Capitulation Terms Are Given

Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Rudolph Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party.

Also present was Admiral-General Eric Raeder, commander of the German fleet.

French Delegation

The French delegation sent into this bomb-pocketed forest to hear the terms of peace consisted of General Charles L. C. Huntzinger, Air Force General Jean Marie Joseph Bergert, Vice-Admiral Maurice Athanase le Lug and Leon Noel, former French ambassador to Poland.

Official German spokesmen who described the armistice meeting to correspondents stated that it was in sharp contrast to the first session in the same railway coach that brought an end to the World war 22 years ago.

Today's proceedings in the railway coach, converted after the last war into a memorial to the military greatness of France, "effectively blots out the injustices committed against German arms," an official statement said.

It was left to General Keitel to read to the French a preamble to the armistice terms, enacting for Germany the role played by General Maxime Weygand, allied commander-in-chief, in the last armistice. As chief of staff to the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch, Weygand read the peace terms in 1918.

Charged To Tell Following

"On behalf of the supreme commander of the German defense forces," Keitel said, "I am charged to tell you the following:

"'Trusting the assurances of President Wilson, confirmed by the allies, the German defense forces in 1918 laid down their arms.

"Therewith ended a war which neither the German people nor its government wanted.

"During that war our enemies, despite overwhelming odds, did not succeed in decisively defeating the German army, navy and air force.

"But already on the arrival of the German armistice commission, promises solemnly given by our enemies were broken.

"November 11, 1918, marked the date of the beginning of the sufferings of the German nation.

"Whatever dishonor, humiliation and human and material suffering could be imposed on a nation were begun here.

"Breaking pledges and perjuring themselves, the allies conspired against our nation, which after four years of heroic resistance had fallen victim to its sole weakness—a willingness to believe in the promises of democratic statesmen.

"On September 3, 1939—25 years after the outbreak of the World war—England and France declared war on Germany again without reason.

Decision Has Come

"Now the decision of arms has come.

"France is defeated. The French government has requested the Reich to notify it of the German conditions of armistice.

"The historic Compiegne forest was chosen for acceptance of these conditions in order to extinguish, by this act of redressing justice, once and for all a remembrance which represents no glorious leaf in the history of France and one which was resented by the German people as the deepest disgrace of all time.

"After heroic resistance in an unbroken succession of bloody battles, France has been defeated and has collapsed.

"Germany therefore does not intend to bestow armistice terms or conduct armistice negotiations in the character of defamations against a gallant enemy.

The purpose of the German demands is as follows:

"1—To prevent resumption of the war against Germany.

"2—To give Germany all guarantees ensuring continuance of the war against England.

"3—To create the basis of a new peace whose most essential contents will be redressing of the wrongs inflicted on Germany."

Immediately after General Keitel had finished reading the preamble, Hitler left the railway coach.

Outside stood a military band in the smart uniforms of one of the fuehrer's picked regiments.

It played not the Horst Wessel song or any of the anthems of Nazi Germany but the triumphant strains of the imperial German Reich: "Deutschland Ueber Allies."

Ceremony Is Brief

The whole ceremony took but ten minutes.

It was a "blitz" armistice—in keeping with the "blitz" warfare that Germany has so successfully prosecuted thus far.

The fuehrer carried out this crowning touch to his career of German leadership to the ultimate degrees.

He sat in the same chair where Marshal Foch sat in 1918—the chair from which, according to the Nazi view, Republican France decreed the execution of imperial Germany.

Not a word was said when the French emissaries stepped into the coach which for over two decades has stood in this forest as a symbol of French military might.

Hitler and his aides received the French with a stiff-armed Nazi solute and at a signal from fuehrer, Keitel began reading the preamble.

French Silent

The French listened in silence.

Immediately afterward, Hitler stepped down from the coach, leaving Keitel and his staff officers behind to discuss technical details of the capitulation.

At 4:24 p. m., 54 minutes after they had been received to hear the fate of their nation, the French departed.

A telephone was placed at their disposal to communicate to the refugee French government the terms of peace and hear a final decision, which was expected at any moment.

To preserve the tradition of Nazi party domination of the government, the band played the Horst Wessel song when "Deutschland Ueber Allies" was finished. The fuehrer reviewed an honor guard, saluted briskly and entered his high-powered military car, presumably to drive back to the fighting front and leave Compiegne behind him—a landmark in history for the second time in a generation.

There was no audience to view this major chapter in the story of civilization. A handful of German officers and foreign newspapermen were the only ones there.

France's Blackest Day

IN THE COMPIEGNE WOODS, June 21.—France awoke today to what may prove the blackest day in her long history.

For today, on the same spot in these woods where nearly 22 years ago Marshal Foch dismantled Imperial Germany, French plenipotentiaries are to ask Chancellor Hitler's troops to cease firing and grant an armistice.

At the same hour that the Germans signed on the dotted line in 1918, the French representatives have been commanded to appear here and listen to Hitler's price for the "lost war."

German generals will be on the scene to receive the French representatives.

Will Be Speedy

German authorities stressed that no time will be wasted with the French.

The meeting here, they said, will be an application of "Hitler's 1940 blitz methods—similar to Germany's blitz war."

"No back talk or arguing is wanted," they stressed. "It is a question of 'take it or leave it'—for France no longer has any choice"

It appeared that the meeting, at which Germany's terms will be presented to the French, may not last more than an hour.

German officials asserted that one important consideration stands out. If the French sign the German terms, they declared, it will mean the saving of thousands of lives and prevention of much misery.

War on the European continent, they stated, will end with the German order to cease fire.

Dice Have Fallen

These dice have fallen, German officials added, and what takes place here today amid the graves of the dead will "blot out" Paris as a military power.

Further, they claimed, it will "seal the doom of English might."

Two French generals, one admiral and one diplomat will have the sad duty of bowing their heads in defeat and hearing the German terms in these cool woods which, in 1918, witnessed France's hour of greatest triumph.

(The French plenipotentiaries named to hear the German terms are General Charles L. C. Huntzinger, air force general Jean-Marie-Joseph Bergeret, Vice Admiral Maurice-Athanase Le Luc and Leon Noel, former ambassador to Warsaw).

Five miles east of this spot lies the town of Compiegne, which itself symbolizes the tragic situation of France, for everywhere in the little city shells and bombs have left gaping, black holes.

Save for German soldiers, hardly a soul is visible in Compiegne.

Follow Route Of Troops

We reached this meeting place by special plane and automobile from Berlin, following the same road that marked the French army retreat in this section.

Generalissimo Maxime Weygand's crack troops tried to make a stand before Paris in the Compiegne Woods, but they were trapped for several days while a furious Stuka (dive-bomber) and artillery bombardment pounded them, hurling trees sky-high—and with them men, horses, cannon and supply wagons.

During the past few days sanitary squads have been at work in these woods.

Improvised crosses, decorated with Poilu helmets, red fez caps of Moroccan troops or bayonetted rifles give silent testimony to the carnage and death.

Guns Abandoned

Heavy and light batteries of machine guns stand abandoned by the score amid heaps of torn, blood-stained clothes and shoes.

Amid the debris are piles of munitions and tinned food and thousands of loaves of bread.

The Compiegne roads wind through broken trees and barricades towards a single spur track where tourists for the past 20 years have wandered, picknicked and gazed at the plaque which states that here stood Foch's military car while he and his adjutants, Gen. Weygand, in another railway coach a few feet away, laid down France's armistice terms to Germany's delegates.

The French built a small house over the same railway coach and left everything inside just as it was on that historic day in 1918.

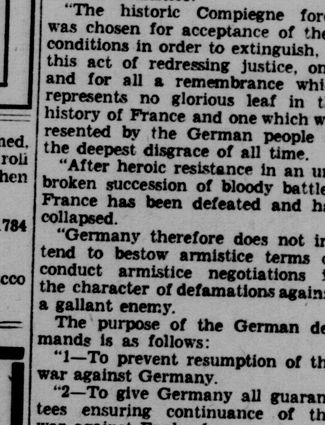

Today the Germans will receive the French at about the same spot. Whether the same railway coach will be used was not known.

Reminders of war can be seen everywhere. Overhead roar Stukas and Heinkels. In the woods are all sorts of German officers and adjutants. Troops and trucks are on the highways.

Taking no chances, Hitler's legions are still moving deeper into France, bent on giving the French no opportunity to recuperate in case they decide to put up a final resistance rather than surrender all her forces—including the French fleet.

State Highways Are Badly In Need Of Modernization

Keystone Auto Club Estimates Huge Sum Is Necessary To Modernize Roads

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Pennsylvania would have to expend $258,000,000 to bring its highways up to standards required by traffic and safety conditions, the Keystone Automobile club estimates.

Highways which should be rebuilt, a study disclosed, total 1,120 miles at an estimated reconstruction cost of $73,600,000. Highways which should be widened comprise 1,550 miles at a cost of $99,975,000. Necessary relocations total 1,060 miles at $69,425,000.

The grand total of 3,730 miles in need of modernization, at an expenditure of 243,000,000, is exclusive of bridges which should be widened or rebuilt.

Keystone officials pointed out that, although the state's highway system embraces some 40,000 miles of roads, there are only 1,280 miles of extra-width highway—three to six lanes. This figures includes mileage through municipalities, where most of the streets are more than two traffic lanes wide.

Malachi Demands Honesty Toward God

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Malachi rebuking and encouraging Judah

"Bring ye the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in My house, and prove Me now herewith, saith Jehovah of Hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."—Mal. 3:10.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 23 is Malachi, the Golden Text being, Malachi 3:10. "Bring ye the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in My house, and prove to Me now herewith, saith Jehovah of Hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

THE NAME of the prophet, Malachi, means "the messenger," and by some it is thought that there was no one of that name, but that the book was so named because it is a message to the Jewish people from Jehovah.

Others believe that there was a prophet by that name, but that we know nothing further of him except that his message was given in Jerusalem, probably about the years 430 and 425 B. C.

In 445-4 B. C., Nehemiah obtained permission from the Persian king, Artaxerxes Longimanus, to go to Jerusalem for a time, and he instituted many reforms, rebuilding the walls of the city, making the people fast, repent their sins, stop marrying women of other nations who knew not Jehovah, condemning slavery and usury, also getting them to give their tithes for the temple services. After 12 years he returned to Persia, and later, on going again to Jerusalem, he found that all his reforms had been abandoned. He had to go all over the ground again, and it is thought that it was during this latter visit to Nehemiah that Malachi gave his message to the people.

In this message of Malachi the style of the prophecies is changed to the rabinical method of question and answers. A general truth is affirmed, or some ground of complaint alleged the people's objection is stated, the objection is refuted, and warning or promise is pronounced.

In the first chapter of Malachi he asserted that the Lord loved His people—"I have loved you, saith the Lord." Then he turns to the priests who were as bad, or worse, than the people they were supposed to lead in the way of righteousness.

"O priests, that despise My name. And ye say, Wherein have we despised thy name?

"Ye offer polluted bread upon Mine altar."

How The Priests Sinned

These priests not only offered polluted bread upon the holy altars, but lame and sick animals were offered as sacrifices, animals that cost the priests nothing and that made a shame of the ceremony of sacrifice. They also had their minds much more on the money they would receive for their services, than on their duties to the Lord. And finally, they were weary of their religious duties and found no joy in them.

There is a lovely passage telling what the true priest should be —"The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips; he walked with Me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity.

"For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth; for he is the messenger of the Lord of Hosts."

The people were not bringing their tithes to the church as they should. The men were marrying women of heathen nations and then divorcing them, and they were committing many other sins.

"Ye have wearied the Lord with your words," Malachi told them; now was the time to act and show their loyalty. "Return unto Me, and I will return unto you, saith the Lord of Hosts."

He accused the people of robbing the Lord.

"Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed Me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed Thee? In tithes and offerings.

"Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in Mine house, and prove Me now herewith, said the Lord of Hosts, if I will not open the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

Each family was supposed to bring his tithe to the temple to pay for its services and support. Only the householder in those days and now can tell what his tithe should be. The man who is earning little and needs most of it to support his family, may not be able to give very much—even nothing; but he at least should be honest, and everything one has may be dedicated to the Lord, the Maker of all, and used for a good cause, according to one's responsibilities.

Even in an evil generation there were some good people who steadfastly did what was right and just. Of these Malachi says:

"Then they that feared Jehovah spake one with another; and Jehovah hearkened, and heard, and a book of remembrance was written before Him for them that feared Jehovah and thought upon His name. . . . And they shall be Mine, saith Jehovah of Hosts, even Mine own possession, in the day that I make, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son and serveth him."

Malachi also speaks of the messenger that is to come to the children of Israel, who shall "sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness."

John the Baptist was sent centuries later, and Jesus, but the leaders of the Jewish people did not accept Jesus as their messenger.

If everyone in the whole world would look to Him and live the life that He asked us to live, just imagine what a change would come over the world. All the troubles would vanish. Each would vie with the other to give rather than take away, and we could all live together as brothers and sisters should.

FEWER JAPANESE BEETLES EXPECTED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 21.—As a result of the dry spell last summer, state entomologists are predicting there will be fewer Japanese beetles in Pennsylvania this year.

According to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, entomologist in the State Department of Agriculture, the small grubs hatched during the dry spell in mid-July died from the heat and lack of moisture. Therefore there will be fewer grubs to attack produce this summer.

"Diggings" in scattered parts of Pennsylvania have given rise to hopes by the State Department of Agriculture that the beetles will not emerge until early July. In the past few years, they have always been noticeable at mid-June.

The Red army is now organized on the basis of universal military service. The soldiers are organized in democratic fashion and do not salute officers unless they feel like it.

Prior to the purchase of Alaska by the United States, little interest was taken in the Territory and few American vessels navigated its waters.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 21.—A health study of the class of 1939 at the Pennsylvania State College has shown that fewer than one-half of one per cent of the class went through college without requiring treatment at the college dispensary or infirmary.

Students who did require treatment, said Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, director of the health service, made an average of 11 trips each to the health center during their four years. The records showed that the 1831 students who at one time or another belong to the class of 1939 missed a total of 21,781 class hours on account of illness.

Brahms Ladies Chorus Season Is Concluded

Dinner Party Marks Close Of Successful Year For Brahms Ladies Chorus

Brahms Ladies Chorus closed the season's activities Thursday evening with a most enjoyable dinner party, when they were guests at "Sleepy Cove" the lovely summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fleming, situated along the Neshannock creek.

A delicious dinner was served at a beautifully appointed table arranged on the enclosed dining porch, covers being laid for guests numbering twenty-five. Purple canterberry bells in a white holder, formed an attractive centerpiece. The committee in charge composed of Mrs. Ralph Scowden, chairman, with Cecelia Hughes, Elizabeth Rees, Mrs. Edward O'Neill, Mrs. M. Wilson, Fern Cloak and Mrs. R. Peden, as aides.

Immediately following, the assemblage gathered around the cheery fireplace in the spacious living room, where activities continued. Opening, the chorus sang several selections after which the group enjoyed a period of games and contests. This feature was under the direction of Mrs. Annie Jamison, Mrs. Clarence Boston and Mrs. Plummer D. Gibson. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. David Rees, Robert Fleming, Ruth Weir, David Reed and Mrs. R. Peden.

Mr. Rees favored with several solo numbers, the "Kerry Dance" being especially well received.

A short business discussion was conducted by the president, Mrs. Peden and gratifying reports were given at this time, from executive officers which proved the chorus had a most successful and enjoyable season.

Appreciation was extended the various committees who had so faithfully served through the year. A vote of thanks was also extended to Mr. and Mrs. R. Fleming and Mrs. Jennie Martin, for the generous hospitality they displayed in entertaining the group so royally.

Mrs. Don Graham (Elizabeth Eakin), a bride of June 8, was signally honored when Miss Cloak in behalf of those gathered, presented her with a handsome electrical gift. She responded graciously.

Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. Plummer Gibson and Miss Bertha Taylor were named as the nominating committee and were instructed to make their reports at the first meeting to be held in the fall. At this time, officers will be elected to serve during the coming year.

Activities closed as they had begun, "with music", after which guests joined in singing several selections, with Miss Mary Virginia Roberts presiding at the electrical organ.

The chorus adjourned until fall, when they will resume activities with an opening rehearsal in September.

Director of the Brahms Ladies chorus, who has so successfully guided the group to their present heights, is David W. Rees. Mrs. Harry Zimmerman is pianist.

AIRCRAFT CARRIER IS ORDERED BUILT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 21. — The navy department today ordered the Norfolk navy yard to construct a 25,000 ton aircraft carirer to cost $48,000,000. Construction was authorized by the 1941 naval appropriations bill, passed a few days ago.

Reorganization Of Military Aviation Industry Begun

National Defense Council Begins Moves To Aid Defense Program

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A general reorganization of the military aviation industry was undertaken by the National Defense Council today as a major phase in the American preparedness scheme.

The reorganization, which involves expansion of existing factories, construction of new plants, and division of accessory contracts among scores of firms, was discussed at a White House conference by W. S. Knudsen, chairman of the defense council.

Meantime, full assurance that the administration will have more than $5,000,000,000 cash for the defense program was given by senate passage of the $1,777,000,000 deficiency bill. Prompt agreement over minor differences in house and senate versions of the bill was forecast.

One possible obstacle to the defense program worried high administration officials. This was the determination of the Senate Naval Affairs committee to write into law a limitation of seven per cent profit on contracts. Present law allows a gross profit of 12 per cent for airplane and 10 per cent for ship builders.

The part Henry Ford's great industrial plants will play in the aviation program, Knudsen said, will be determined over the weekend. While the administration plans vast expansion of the aircraft industry, it now is being maintained largely by orders from Great Britain for fighting craft.

Two Part Farm Program Urged

G. O. P. Platform Drafters Given Ideas Of Congressmen On Farm Policy

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—A two part farm program, embracing one stand for the present emergency and a different long range policy, has been urged on Republican platform drafters by a group of G.O.P. congressmen, it was learned today.

The proposed program suggested:

1. That the Republican party go on record as favoring full government control of agricultural exports, and perhaps imports, too, because of the present uncertainties of foreign trading by private concerns. This, however, is to be a definite emergency measure to be cancelled as soon as world conditions become stabilized.

2. That as a long range policy, the party favor resumption of employment and relief for business as a means of providing agricultural markets. This, it was stressed, means a tapering off, and not sudden curtailment, of farm subsidies.

The proposals were made in an executive session of the G.O.P. agricultural subcommittee by a delegation headed by Rep. Pope of Kansas who asked that they be written into the platform to be submitted to the party's convention next week, it was learned.

U. S. Must Choose Between Real And Fake Security Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1940, Publishers Financial Bureau)

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 21.—The big issue facing America today is: Real Security vs Fake Security. Everyone now realizes that this country must annually spend billions of dollars on defense. Yet, for ten years the United States has failed to balance its budget, due to relief, farm aid, and so-called "social security" costs. We cannot add the defense billions to the relief billions. We must choose between guns and gadgets; between personal or "social" security. With defense expenditures rising, "New Deal" expenditures must be slashed.

BABSON

When I was in Europe two years ago, some of Hitler's aides prophesied accurately that he had the power to push the Allies around while they were unwilling to strip for a real fight. England finally stripped, as shown by the recent dictatorship, and at last decided to "come out fighting". France trod the same path but faced dictatorship with reluctance, even when the situation became desperate. She clung to the 8-hour day as a sop to labor and retained three per cent interest for investors, crushing the middle class as between the jaws of a vise. England and France saw the need of getting guns, but refused to give up "gadgets".

Delay Was Suicidal

The Allies' weak, stupid and stubborn delay in resorting to self-sacrifice had the effect of disarming the democracies. Two precious, priceless years were lost, wasted in dilly-dallying and delusions that security somehow could be won without paying the price. We live today in a world where no nation has the privilege of choosing between free-and-easy indulgence and resolute devotion to duties. The only alternative is between dictation by force from without and self-discipline developed from within.

The cold realism of what the Germans in 1938 told me about the Allies has a ruthless application to America today. Just as England and France were at last driven to strip for the necessities of warfare, so the United States will be driven to strip for the necessities of defense. Any other policy on our part will give us only "phoney" defenses, fit only for phoney wars. Recent history gives proof that any country which makes ready merely for military defense is preparing itself for defeat. Hope of security demands also the upbuilding of national character into more heroic stature.

Look Out For Japan

Never forget that here in the United States we must be prepared for the possibility that the Axis powers, including Japan, will gang up against America. We must take steps not only to protect ourselves against infiltration, or the secret sapping of our strength by fifth columns, but must revamp our attitude toward leisure, waste and behavior. Tanks, planes, battleships and other material armor can be built in less time than it takes to erect moral defenses and rearm the national spirit. This means that a spiritual awakening must accompany any successful defense program; and that such effort should start at once.

If the Germans listened to our president's fireside talk of several weeks ago, they were uneasy when he referred to the vast productive capacity of American industry. But Nazi listeners heard our president go on to express the hope that we could do two things at the same time: First, push our defense plans; second, keep our "super-luxuries" By "super-luxuries" I refer to hour and wage benefits, old age pensions, farm bounties, indiscriminate relief, and other sops and paps. Such hopes are reminiscent of the blasted ideas once entertained in Allied nations.

Riding Two Horses

Yes, when German ears were tuned to that fireside talk, my guess is that German mouths began to grin and German eyes began to glitter. Full well it is known by realists that the desire for both New Deals and new defenses was what cracked the preparedness programs of other victims. They tried to provide themselves with both guns and gadgets. The same fateful blunder may yet imperil America, if we are unwilling to choose between national protection and economic pampering. The years 1940 and 1941 may be as decisive to American defense as the years 1938 and 1939 were to Allied defense. Are we to re-enact the tragic futilities of Europe?

You can help yourself and your country more by thinking and acting upon these fundamental facts than you can by hanging morbidly over your radio and listening to nothing but war "news". Certainly, our retail sales, industrial production, employment, buying power and defense preparations are not helped by this 1940 craze for broadcast brooding. Vast events such as are now occurring in Europe and Asia may affect America in two ways: (1) We can feel the chill of blind panic, selfish forebodings and childish terror of losing our luxuries. Or (2) we may "take it" with the thrill of sacrifice, self-denial and the courage and character to save America first.

Writing History

Tell me how the majority of the population will react to these spiritual alternatives, and I will forecast the effects upon our economic life of the historic events now unfolding. I ask that we be realistic, cut out hypocrisy, and realize what honest defense really requires. The truth I preach may not be popular, but someone must summon the courage and candor to bring home these facts to our people. Time is running out. We cannot afford further to straddle and dodge. The choice which we can no longer evade may decide the future of America. It will write history not only "in our time", but for generations still to come.

Reporter's Wife Tells Of Her Experiences On Ship Sub Halted

(EDITOR'S NOTE: One who lived through those tense minutes on June 11 while the United States Liner Washington was challenged by a German submarine was Mrs. Kenneth Downs, wife of the Paris bureau manager of International News Service. Mrs. Downs' own story of that episode follows.)

By HARRIETTE DOWNS
(Written for International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 21.—When I left my husband in Bordeaux and boarded the Washington with our two children, Kenneth said:

"You'll be all right now."

We were for a few days and then came the morning when I woke to hear the steward banging on the door.

"Submarine!" he called. "Everybody out."

My roommate, Mrs. E. P. Gaskell—her husband is general manager of the U. S. Lines in Frances—was already awake.

About Two Miles Off

"Look out the porthole," she said. I looked out. We could see the blinker flashes from the submarine—of course we didn't know until later what they were saying. We couldn't see the submarine itself. It was too far away. It must have been about two miles off. And all we could see was this signal flash going on and off.

Mrs. Gaskell got her youngster, Perry, up, and I got my two youngsters. Perry Gaskell is 12. My Michael is five and Julie is a year and a half.

We put on life preservers over their nightclothes, slipped on coats over our nightgowns and went up two decks to the smoking room which was near our lifeboat station.

I don't remember whether or not I was frightened. I don't believe I was. Anyway, everybody was calm. There wasn't a bit of noise or excitement. Not a child whimpered.

We got out on deck and the captain said through the loudspeaker that we should get into our lifeboats. Mine was number 8. Then the captain said:

"We have been stopped by a submarine that is acting suspiciously. We are taking orders now from the submarine. Please get into the boats."

We got into our boat and the crew assigned to the boat was just grand. The American sailors covered the youngsters with blankets and they laughed and joked and said it was a shame to interrupt our sleep but we would be back in our beds in half an hour.

There were about 50 in the boat and it was swung out from the side of the ship but not lowered. I wasn't a bit frightened. Perhaps if they had really lowered the boats I would have begun to get frightened.

I guess my nerves are in good shape because I have become so much accustomed to sirens and whistles and air raids and blackouts.

Finally the submarine mesaged that it was "sorry," there had been a mistake, and told us to go on.

The captain asked us to remain in the lifeboats for at least another 10 minutes for safety sake and we did. Altogether, we were in the lifeboats for about half an hour.

Later that day we passed another submarine but nothing hapened.

After it was all over, a few women cried but I can't say that I saw anything you would call hysteria or fright. Everybody took the thing calmly and I think the crew had a great deal to do with it.

Even the steward who woke us up was as calm about announcing the submarine as he would be about calling us to breakfast.

Lieut. Quigley Resided Here Some Years Ago

Mrs. Ella J. Boffing, 315 East North street, reported to The News today that the parents and family of Lieut. Robert H. Quigley, formerly of New Castle, who was killed in a plane crash at Wright Field, Dayton, O., on Thursday, moved from here some years ago to either Whiting or Highland, Ind., near Gary.

Mr. Quigley is superintendent of one of the steel plants at Gary. While in New Castle, the Quigleys were located on East Washington street and were neighbors of Mrs. Boffing.

Three Girls To Seek To Learn To Fly Plane

Three air-minded young ladies who are determined to learn to fly were among the 50 men who last night heard Dr. J. A. Swindler, head of Westerminster college's physics department, explain the new civilian pilot training course which the college and the Civil Aeronautics Authority will jointly sponsor at New Castle airport this summer.

The crowd included those who have passed preliminary tests. Some, it was said, may not be eligible for instruction after additional physical tests are made. No names have been released.

The Greater New Castle Association, co-operating with Westminster in enrolling the students, had James R. Elder, assistant to Executive Vice President Arthur H. Andrews, present to aid Dr. Swindler.

The group plans to gather again on the Westminster campus Monday evening, June 30.

Louis Wins By Technical Kayo

Referee Stops Louis-Godoy Fight In Eighth Round As Godoy Takes Severe Beating

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK June 21.—Assuming that Joe Louis is always levelling, and doesn't carry an opponent one time to help out over the fight motion pictures or to bring about a rematch later, he can be credited with being the greatest comeback performer the ring has seen. And we will add, too, that when properly steamed up and really eager to fight, he must be among the best heavyweights that ever laced on a glove. As far as we are concerned he proved those two points last night in scoring an eight-round technical knockout over Arturo Godoy of South America.

Godoy carried Louis 15 rounds before and made a monkey out of the champion in many respects, leading to the conclusion that Louis sometimes isn't at his best, either because he is too phlegmatic to get worked up over an opponent who seemingly hasn't a chance or because it is good business for him to take it easy. But, in trying to repeat an encore against the Brown Bomber, Godoy found last night that the heav weight champion is too fast, too clever, too game and too potent with his punches to accept a second helping of humiliation.

The finish of the one-sided encounter, waged before 27,876 customers who paid out $119,505, came in 1:24 of the eighth round and left Godoy as a bleeding, helpless and over-powered hulk who was so persistent in his determination to carry on further that after being waved aside as unfit for further punishment that the police leaped into the Yankee stadium ring to restrain him in his attempts to continue the battle. It might have been an act. At any rate the fight ended then and there.

Louis In Shape

In this, his 11th defense of the title, Louis was good, possibly terrific, even in eluding Godoy's attempts to get in one good clout after each bell in one of the most flagrant rule violations ever tried in a major fight.

However, the customers got what they paid to see, viz and to wit:

Louis proved again that because a fighter fares well against him one time it doesn't mean that he can repeat and when really oiled up to go he is devastating. At 199 pounds against Godoy's 201½, he was trained down to utter perfection. Actually Godoy never had a chance.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Although Teddy Yarosz and Bud Mignault will fight the main bout in the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce show June 27, New Castle's interest will be in the Mike Raffa-Peter DeGrasse semi-final. Mike has boxed here. Since he deserted the amateurs Raffa has won 16 consecutive professional fights. As another bait to coax fans through the turnstiles, Benny Leonard will referee.

Bessemer will play the Warren Ramblers, Sunday afternoon at Bessemer, in an independent game. Bessemer is leading the Lawrence County Baseball league race and has practically clinched the flag for the first half of the race.

Old Furnace field along the Zelienople-Ellwood City road, Sunday, will be the mecca of polo fans because Old Furnace will oppose Canfield, O. Nipper, Strickland, Barr and Arthur will play for Canfield. The Wilsons, H. and W., Shagetts and McClaren will play for Old Furnace.

W. & J.'s athletic record for the 1939-40 season, follows: football, won 5, lost 3; wrestling, lost 5; swimming, won 7, lost 3; golf, won 6, lost 4; tennis, lost 5; track, won 4, and basketball, won 16, lost 4. The figures are from Athletic Director William F. Henry.

The writer yesterday in this column expressed the opinion Joe Louis would win his second bout from Joe Godoy, and if he fought like he did when he battled a second time with Max Schmeling would kayo Arturo Godoy. Louis won by a technical knockout in the eighth round last night.

Dorothy Bell, 19, entered the semifinals of the women's division of the West Virginia state tennis tourney by defeating Betty Reider, 6-1, 6-4. The former is of Parkersburg and the latter of Wheeling. . . . Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia may lose $250,000 worth of horse flesh stabled in Normany, France. Louis Beats Arturo Godoy By Technical K.O.

—Central Press Phonephoto

Joe Louis, Detroit's Brown Bomber, retained his world's heavyweight championship when he registered a technical knockout of Arturo Godoy of Chile at 1.24 of the eighth round of Louis' 11th defense of his title in Yankee stadium, New York City. This dramatic photo was snapped as Referee Billy Cavanagh stepped in to stop the fight after the challenger had hit the canvas for the second time in the final round and the third time in the fight. The champion is being pushed back to a corner by Cavanagh as Godoy struggles to rise.

Indians Climb To First Place

Cleveland Team Has Won Seven Of Last Eight Starts, Yanks Lose Tough One

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Dissension doesn't always wreck a ball club. Sometimes it supplies the spark needed to get a club going.

We recall that the old Cubs under Chance won pennants although their famous second-base combination—Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers—didn't speak to each other for years.

The Giants won pennants even when John McGraw wasn't on anything but "cussing" terms with half his players and the Yanks won under Miller Huggins despite some bitter feuds among several stars.

And the Indians seemed to be just another so-so club until they had their recent rift-in with Manager Oscar Vitt. Since then they have been on a winning spree and today we find them in first place by virtue of Bob Feller's 4-hit, 11-strike-out, 12-1 decision over the Senators. Bob thus became the first pitcher to win 10 games in the majors this year.

Yanks Lose Again

Perhaps a good feud or two might help the skidding Yanks who dropped their fifth straight game and suffered their second straight 1-0 shutout at the hands of the White Sox. This time Rigney had to travel 11 heats to gain a decision over Pearson. The Yankee pitching seems to be functioning well enough but the Yankee sluggers aren't slugging.

Meanwhile the Athletics were snapping the Tigers' winning streak at six straight by a 6-4 count and those amazing Brownies ran their victory skein to six in a row by trimming the Red Sox in a doubleheader, 2-1 on Clift's ninth inning homer and 11-4 on four more Brownie homers, including another by Clift.

The idle Dodgers moved into first place in the National when Kirby Higbe of the Phillies scored a 12-inning 4-3 verdict over the Reds and young Mr. Higbe can give at least a bow to old Chuck Klein who drove in all the Philly runs.

The Giants came from behind to beat Larry French and the Cubs, 6-4, and the Pirates dropped the Bees into the cellar by taking the long end of a slugging battle, 8 to 7.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

"I would like to have froze last night" . . . them thar words are ringing throughout the vicinity . . . and if it were properly known, throughout this portion of the United States . . . and today is the first day of summer . . . the longest day of the year . . . you can write that down in your data book and thus keep a record . . . a record that we hope will not be broken in future years. And one fellow said . . . "if you enjoy swimming now is not the time to partake of the sport" . . . but things will warm up and by Sunday the water will be fine.

Tonight the gals of the Sigma Delta Chi will be hosts to a large number in the Field Club . . . tonight they dance . . . the money derived from this event will be used in their charity work within the city.

* * *

Of course you read about the postponement on the High School Alumni Reunion . . . just what the plans are for the future is hard to say . . . but proper announcement will be made in this newspaper when and if the proper time comes.

I do not fear to tread the path
that those I love have long since trod;
I do not fear to pass the gates and stand before the living God.
In this world's fight I've done my part;
if God be God, He knows it well;
He will not turn his back on me,
and send me down to blackest hell
Because I have not prayed aloud
and shouted in the market place.
'Tis what we do, not what we say,
that makes us worthy of his grace.

Market Range Narrow Today

Steel Shares Slightly Lower As Market Awaited French Armistice Signing

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 21.—The stock market put in an extremely dull and narrow performance in the forenoon dealings today, awaiting the outcome of the armistice conference between Hitler and French representatives.

Bethlehem and U. S. Steel each were down a point in the early dealings but came back to the previous close later. Most of the other steels steadied also.

Chrysler moved up slightly after a fractional drop. General Motors was steady.

Aviations were mostly firmer after yesterday's decline. Douglas, United Aircraft and Glenn Martin rose fractionally.

Rails displayed a firm undertone but price changes were unimportant. Utilities followed a similar pattern. Coppers marked time. Allied rose a point in the chemicals, and Johns Manville was up nearly as much in the building group. B. M. T. also gained a point.

Escaped Rockview Prisoners Caught, Sentences Doubled

(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 21.—Recaptured after a short-lived break for freedom, two long term prisoners were back in Rockview Penitentiary today facing a doubled sentence.

The prisoners, Howard C. Franell, 32, of Altoona, and Charles Richard Briner, 22, of Westmoreland County, had walked away from a prison cornfield in which they were working yesterday.

When they stopped at a nearby farmhouse for supper the farmer gave them shelter in his barn and notified Deputy Warden C. C. Rhodes, who, with deputies, easily recaptured the men.

Rhodes said that Franell's 15 to 30 year sentence would be doubled, as would the five to 10 year sentence of Briner.

Franell was convicted with his brother and another man in connection with a $5,000 bank robbery at Altoona on December 28, 1927. He had already served 12 years. Briner was sentenced to five to 10 years from Westmoreland County on a morality charge.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Ford Frick, National League president, today cleared Pitcher Bob Bowman of the St. Louis Cardinals of the charge of deliberately beaning Joe Medwick of the Brooklyn Dodgers in a game at Brooklyn Tuesday.

Frick today sent the following telegram to Bowman, Billy Southworth, manager, and Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, and Larry MacPhail, president of the Dodgers:
